Annual Corporation Meeting

It required but twenty-two minutes to transact business at the annual meeting of Norway Village Corporation, Tuesday evening.

Henry B. Foster elected moderator and the following officers were elected on one ticket without opposition.

Corporation Assessors—George F. Hathaway, Norman Greenlaw, Louis J. Brooks.
Clerk—Donald B. Partridge.
Treasurer—Robert F. Bickford.
Collector—Robert F. Bickford.
Fire Engineers—Chief, Giles F. Frost; 1st Asst., Frank H. Hurd; 2nd Asst., Harry E. Lovejoy.
Fire Police—B. B. Bicknell, Wm. B. Walker, Edward Anderson, Urshal Gammon, Earl Barker, Harry Stimson.
Auditor—W. A. Bicknell.

The treasurer was authorized to borrow in anticipation of the revenue, giving notes payable within the year.

Voted to purchase bonds required for the treasurer and collector.

All taxes are due and payable Nov. 1, 1927, with 6 per cent. on all unpaid taxes, commencing Dec. 1.

Voted to sprinkle part of the streets, locations to be determined by a committee comprising George Cullinan, Charles Barker and Herbert F. Andrews. The sum of $12,000 was granted, with abutters and coporation to go 50-50 on the expense.

Voted to revise the by-laws, the moderator to appoint a committee for that purpose.

Voted to abate uncollected taxes on return of the tax books of E. C. Libby to corporation officers.

ANNUAL MEETING OF BOARD OF TRADE

The annual meeting of Norway Board of Trade was held Thursday evening, Mar. 3, in the American Legion dining hall.

An oyster supper prepared by E. B. Jackson was served at 6:30 o'clock, with a large number present. A business meeting followed with officers elected for the ensuing year:

Pres.—L. Fred Pike.
Vice Pres.—Norman U. Greenlaw.
Treas.—Walter P. Noyes.
Sec.—Forrest Longley.
Executive Com.—Fred E. Smith, Frank E. Decoster, George L. Curtis, Fred S. Brown, George F. Hill.
Camp Ground Com.—Elon L. Brown, Leon M. Longley.

Dues from the present year were raised from one dollar to two dollars.

Six new members were accepted, Walter Getchell, Clarence W. Buck, Stuart Skillings, H. H. Hosmer, Jr., Wesley C. Day, and Richard Perkins.

In view of the fact that it is understood the Grand Trunk wishes to suspend the morning train services from Norway to Portland for a few weeks, the meeting went on record as not agreeable to the plan and will take up the matter with the officials. It is understood the suspension is contemplated to allow connection with Boston trains, which cannot be made under the present schedule that includes running over the branch to Norway. One of the objections to the suspension is that the particular train does the heaviest business for the day and its removal would cause great inconvenience to the public. All believe the matter will be settled satisfactorily.

A BIFF AND BANG BOXING MATCH

Company C. and the American Legion Post crossed swords in a boxing match at Legion Hall, Thursday evening. There was no rough stuff but four lively bouts went the limit with more or less science mixed with heat. Each event went on four two minute rounds except the preliminary, which was trimmed to one minute each. All contestants were Norway and South Paris mitt men.

The main show was K. O. Carroll billed as champion of 103 Infantry and Haskell, the pride of Co. C. This was a real match and some heavy business developed.

Don Matherson and "Reggie" Dyer made up the semi-final. A real fistic battle put a keen edge on the crowd for there was action every minute. Much in fighting developed and and foot action played strong. Ben Bennett of South Paris and Archie McAllister mixed up the pudding during the second semi-final. Bennett let out speed, while Mac held tight with cuffs that landed hard through a strong defence.

Len Carroll and Francis Gammon put on a curtain raiser that included the big scream known as "dipper boxing." The contestants are blindfolded, one arm is for punching, the other free to pound a tin dipper. In this game the handicapped boxers depend on sound for location.

The show was put on the stage and all seats in the hall were equal to the best ringside kind under less favorable conditions. Otho Roberts an ex-boxer was referee. Other bouts are expected as interest is keen at present.

WILL DECIDE CHAMPIONSHIP

High school basket ball championship for Twin Towns will be settled on a neutral court at Norway Opera House, this Thursday evening, March 10. Two games are scheduled as follows: Paris H. S. vs Norway H. S., both boys and girls. Fun commences at 7.45 o'clock.

The teams have won a game a piece and there will be something doing. Competition is keen and school spirit runs high, but the best feeling prevails between the schools. A spirit of good sportsmanship exists that reflects credit to the leaders in both institutions.

There will be hard playing and plenty of noise.

Mrs. Frank Murdock has been ill since moving to her new home on Lower Main Street.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Jordan of Greenleaf Ave passed a very pleasant Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Russell at their home, corner of Main and Pleasant Sts., a fine dinner and oyster supper was served, the occasion being their 49th wedding anniversary.

The Twin Town Nature Club will meet next Monday evening, March 14, with Mrs Charles H. Howard at South Paris.

There was a good attendance at the Legion dance last Saturday evening with prizes given. Another dance is on the card for next Saturday evening at the usual hour. Bluebird Serenaders play as usual.

Napoleon Roy better known as "Mike King", commences as clerk at the Jackson-Greenlaw Co. next Monday. Joseph Lafrance closes his engagement there, Saturday.

Kingfisher Camp was occupied Saturday and Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Burgess. Among those present were Madlyn Burgess, Glenys Voter, Arnold Hasty and Fred Bartlett. Sunday callers were Mary Favor and Clarke Hutchins.

Spiral Nebulae Captured by S. B. Cummings of Norway, Me.

This Spiral Nebular is Known as 3031 N. G. C. (New General Catalog), or Messier 81, Which Was an Older Catalog Number

This one, not visible, was photographed by G. W. Ritchey, who figured the curvature of some of the largest reflecting telescopes, including the largest in the world, the Hooker 100 inch, at Mount Wilson Observatory, California. The nebula is placed in the constellation Ursa Major (Great Bear) or as the English call it, "the plough."

The nebula is high in the North, about 21 degrees from the north celestial pole star, Polaris, and is not far from the bowl of the Great Dipper. Its real position is 9 hours, 47.3 min. Right Ascension, plus 69 degrees and 32 minutes declenation.

The above is an example of the development or the fundamental processes of star making. While other spirals vary somewhat on forms, none other is known to be just like this one. The center of the spiral nebula is very bright and brief time exposures of the camera indicate that the central part of the spiral is almost all composed of stars.

The arms of the spiral seem to be built up at the expense of the inner bright portion. Stellar motions of other spiral indicates that the stars or suns drift out and away from between the arms and take their places in the stellar depths in a lawful way.

Our highest authority places the nebula at a probable distance of a million light years of a little less than six trillions of miles for each light year, from the sun, a reach of space too great to be comprehended except by comparison, relatively, with other distant objects. The nebula M.81 with all the stars which it includes, is gliding along at the tremendous velocity of 480 miles per second, if we assume it to be of average speed for spirals.

Evidently these embryonic stars wander from the nebula and seem to be carelessly scattered.

Whether or not these tiny specks of light which are suns and of which the nebula is composed, have planets with their sattelites in their orbits, as does our sun, it is not known because of its great distance, but we know there are variable stars with unseen companions, like the "demon star," Algol, that has a companion and revolves in opposition to each other around a common center and one is eclipsed of the other at regular intervals of time, so Algol which is in the constellation of Perseus, is a good example of this phenomen; it diminishes in brightness from the second magnitude to that of the fourth in about 3 1-2 hours, then back from the fourth to second magnitude, then Algol remains as a steady, brilliant light for 2 3-4 days, then a rythmic recurrence of the process.

The revelation of these processes inspire a faith in the close alliance of celestial phenomenon with religion, by exhibiting the acts and thoughts of a Creator.

Norway Town Meeting

Officers for ensuing year:

Town Clerk—Donald B. Partridge.
Selectmen, Assessors and Overseers of the Poor—H. Arthur Robbins, Geo. F. Hathaway, Fred G. Dunn.
Treasurer—Robert F. Bickford.
School Committee—Arthur W. Easton, Albert A. Towne, Mrs. Bernice Greenlaw.
Auditor—W. A. Bicknell.
Collector—Robert F. Bickford.
Road Commissioner—Harry E. Lovejoy, Albert A. Towne, E. Spaulding Abbott.
Truant Officer—Urshal C. Gammon.
Trustees of Public Library—Eugene F. Smith, Mrs. E. A. Fuller, B. F. Bradbury, Chas. G. Blake, Dennis Pike, Stuart W. Goodwin.
Constables—Charles F. Boober, Earle B. Barker, Horace C. Kimball, Frank E. Gammon, Robert F. Bickford, Harry O. Stimson, F. A. Hall, E. C. Libby, Theodore R. Frost, Jerry Ryan, Merle W. Bowser, Francis Carroll, Myron Paragard, Leslie MacAllister, John W. Prince.

Sixty-six articles on the town warrant were handled in record time, with no serious clashes. The recommendations of the budget committee were followed closely so far as appropriations are concerned, but on the questions of Community Nurse, improvements on Greenleaf Avenue to Elm Street, and to create an annual fund for a new high school building, were in direct opposition to the vote of the committee. Appropriations amounted to over $75,000.00.

The election of officers failed to raise an opposition of past years and this part went through smoothly, without a contest. Henry B. Foster was elected moderator, Donald B. Partridge succeeds himself as clerk; Robert F. Bickford was re-elected treasurer and collector; H. Arthur Robbins was returned to the board of selectmen for 3 years; W. A. Bicknell was re-elected auditor. Eugene F. Smith succeeds himself and Mrs. Eliot A. Fuller elected library trustees fro three years. The road commissioners were re-elected, and Mrs. Bernice Greenlaw was elected a member of the school committee for three years. The truant officer and constables were re-elected.

Voted one per cent. for collecting taxes, all taxes to become due and payable Nov. 1, 1927. Six per cent. on all taxes unpaid after December 1.

Voted for three road commissioners, wages $4.00 per day.

Voted "yes" on appropriating money for State Aid roads, in addition to regular amounts raised for care of highways and bridges. The sum of $2,592.00 was appropriated.

The sum of $1,000 was raised to repair and improve the so-called "black road" from the head of Main street to Norway Lake village, provided the state will provide a like sum. The road was resurfaced and tarvia applied last summer, but more repairs are needed because of heavy traffic.

One thousand dollars was raised for the retirement of Cottage Street bonds. This action was rescinded and $4,000 granted and raised for the purpose.

Voted to authorize the treasurer to borrow money during the year, with the approval of the selectmen, in anticipation of the revenue. Notes payable within the year may be issued.

The town was generous with assistance for the Maine advertising campaign. The sum of $400.00 was appropriated for this publicity.

According to a vote, the town will purchase bonds for the Treasurer and Collector.

Voted to maintain a school in Millettville.

An article asking for a drinking fountain in Witherell Park was passed over.

Voted to have the town by-laws revised and moderator to appoint a committee for that purpose.

Another tractor grader will be purchased with $2,000 appropriated for the machine. The selectmen will make the purchase with no other restrictions than the cost.

After considerable talk and some discussion, a vote was passed to have a Community Nurse from the Maine State Health Association. The women were in evidence when the vote was taken by a show of hands, and displayed great interest in carrying the measure through. There was rather a strong opposition from the men. The sum of $2,000 was raised for the nurse.

Voted $300 for a gravel sidewalk with rock base, commencing on the opposite side of the road from John Smith's store (the Bradbury place) at Norway Lake and continuing on the lake-side toward the schoolhouse, until the appropriation is exhausted.

Voted to straighten, widen and grade the street and build a sidewalk on Greenleaf Avenue from Main Street to Elm Stret. The sum of $300 was appropriated.

To protect our shade trees from a possible attack of insect pests, the sum of $100 was raised and the selectmen authorized to appoint a warden.

The question of additional school room facilities for the Upper, Lower and Tucker street primary buildings was left with a committee of five: Dr. W. L. Hasty, Mrs. Robert F. Bickford, Mrs. Hazel Hosmer, and two others appointed by the moderator.

Voted not to raise $5,000 to start a fund for the erection of a high school building. The plan was for the town to appropriate sums every year until the aggregate amount would cover the cost of a building.

The matter of resurfacing, repairing and draining Fair Street from Main to Paris streets was left with the selectmen to make a survey and report at a future meeting.

Voted that upon the surrender of the books of E. C. Libby to the Selectmen that the Selectmen credit the E. C. Libby account, as Collector, with the amount of $168.68 and abate the uncollected taxes of said E. C. Libby in the amount of $369.10.

The Swift's Corner road will have the ledges blasted out adjacent to the Flint and Watson land, with $300 raised for that purpose.

Whitman and Pearl Streets, the muddiest highways in the village limits, received special attention in an article to drain and repair, with the sum of $1,200.00 appropriated.

The moderator was granted $5.00 for his services.

Meeting was called at 10 o'clock and closed early in the afternoon, with an adjournment at noon.

NORWAY WOMEN'S CLUB

A regular meeting of the Norway Women's Club will be held at Comunity Hall, March 15, at 3 o'clock. Hugh Pendexter will speak to the Club and all who have heard Mr. Pendexter know that the afternoon will be a most enjoyable one.

The Nominating Committee will report at this meeting.

Frank P. Stone has been confined to his home since Monday with the grippe.

Telephone Central Soon To Move

New Office in the Bank Building to be Occupied March 17

G. H. Meserve of Rumford, who has been superintending the installation of the new switchboard and making connections with the network of wires incased within the main cable, has set Thursday, Mar. 17, as the day of days.

The installation is nearly completed and the new board will go into service on St. Patrick's Day, provided there are no serious hitches. Naturally there will be interference on some lines while connections are being made. Lines running westerly to Harrison will be affected and service may be temporarily suspended on that date. The crew will work on high pressure and complete the connections in the quickest possible time. This line has to be disconnected and soldered to cables from the new board, hence all patrons affected will bear with patience the inconvenience. The task may require two hours or more, but prompt service insured in the future by the new equipment will justify a slight interruption.

The new rooms of the Maine Telephone and Telegraph Co. are located in the Norway National Bank building, corner Main and Cottage streets, on the second floor with an entrance on Main street. This central serves not only local subscribers in Norway and Paris but is a clearing house for West Paris Oxford, Harrison, Waterford and other towns under the supervision of Charles C. Wood, with Mrs. Grace Millett, chief operator.

The board is the latest type 800 line capacity, 460 equipped, and local positions have 15 cordi circuits. Everything is there for service in which speed and accuracy is the slogan for local or toll calls.

Sometime the last of March a day will be set apart for the opening, at which time the public is invited to inspect the rooms and equipment. There will be guides ready to receive the guests, show off the rooms and furnish information.

Basket Ball

Bridgton H. S. 34; Norway H. S. 22

Norway High fell 12 points behind at Bridgton, Friday night, and lost in the scrimage that featured Hebb and Pillsbury in basket weaving.

The game was fast with a string of personal fouls with Bridgton on the big end and two basketeers within one lap of the retirement rule. Score, Bridgton 34, Norway, 22.

Mrs. Archie Goodwin and children of Pike's Hill spent the day Thursday Mar. 3, with her sister, Mrs. O. J. Burgess. It was Mrs. Burgess' 41st birthday.

Archie Goodwin took 310 one day old chicks to Bert Foster's, Paris, last Tuesday. The last quarter of a mile he hauled the chicks on a sled. Rest of the trip was made by auto.

Walter Getchell shows a picture of Mellie Dunham making dance music for Henry Ford, Mary's Little Lamb and the Village Blacksmith, while Henry was too busy to think of selling his business for a billion dollars.

Col. Albert J. Stearns, Stephen O. Jellerson and Eugene N. Swett were in Portland, Tuesday, to confer with Rev. Hilda L. Ives. The Congregational parish has given Mrs. Ives a call and the committee chosen at the recent parish meeting met her by appointment.

Dorothy Snow, a miss of about five years, was hit on the nose with a snowball Monday afternoon and Dr. Hasty was called to stop the flow of blood. The accident occurred on Main street soon after town meeting adjourned, naturally a crowd gathered around the Jackson-Greenlaw store where the child was taken. The treatment was effective and the child was able to walk to her home.

Clayton F. White, who was graduated at Norway High school with honors last June, and now a student at Bates College, has been awarded a scholarship for meritorious work and splendid college spirit.

Norway Advertiser's Past Greatness

Bro. Harvey of the Fort Fairfield Review recognizes the past history of the paper thusly:

"As a nursery of great men few newspaper offices can compare with that of our good contemporary, the Norway Advertiser, Norway, Maine, where Charles Farrar Brown, the immortal "Artemus Ward," humorist, showman and lecturer, learned the printer's trade. Sylvanus Cobb, Jr., the author and hero of Ft. McClarey set type in that office while writing one of his famous works, "The Gun Maker of Moscow." Hannibal Hamlin, afterwards vice president of the United States under Abraham Lincoln, when a boy brought wood and water, swept floors and washed rollers, and it was in the office of the Norway Advertiser that he was introduced to the printer's trade. He and Horatio King gave the office devil there a thrashing and daubed his face with printer's ink. Mr. King afterward became Postmaster General of the United States, but it does not follow that all fellows in a printing office who daub the devil's face with ink will get to be Postmaster Generals. Don C. Seitz, former business manager of the New York World, learned his trade in that office also. "Where is there an office of a weekly newspaper that can equal this illustrious record of the Norway Advertiser?"

WONDROUS WORK WROUGHT

Bro. L. P. Evans, Dover-Foxcroft, editor of the Piscataquis Observer, has this to say:

"I recently read the following in the Advertiser:

"We recently visited the Cottage Street Ideal Beauty Parlor to introduce John Wodoman and L. M. Carroll, who needed work in that line. We gave orders that they should go the limit in fixing them up to look fine and stylish and that we would pay the charges. Have you noticed their changed appearance? It is remarkable what a few dollars, judiciously expended will do.'

"The last clause, 'It is remarkable what a few dollars, judiciously expended, will do,' reminded me of a case in this town several years ago when less than a dollar made a remarkable change in a man.

"The individual, who lived in another town, was noted for his very infrequent visits to a barber. On the occasion of which I am writing, he had come here and several young men organized a "syndicate" and raised a fund to have him properly barbered. The money was put in the hands of one of the members of the "syndicate," who took the subject to a barber shop and awaited the result.

"The barber did an artistic job. He gave an up-to-date hair cut; he trimmed the heavy beard in Van Dyke style and made all the applications that money would pay for.

In the meantime the agent of the "syndicate" had got weary of waiting and went to the foot of the stairs (the shop was on the second floor, where he could watch the passersby. After waiting there a long time, he went up into the shop to see what caused the delay and was told that his man had left some time before, but the barber had worked such a change in his appearance that he had passed unrecognized."

NORWAY GRANGE

Norway Grange held a special meeting on Saturday, March 5th. The subject for discussion was "the Town Warrant." Hon. B. G. McIntire was speaker of the afternoon. There were talks by B. G. McIntire, and A. A. Towne. These speakers were both interesting and gave many thoughts that would lead one to consider the affairs of State, County, and Town.

Next Saturday there is to be an all day meeting. The Agricultural students of Norway High School, with their instructor, Edward H. Brown, also County Agent Roy F. Thomas, are to be guests of honor and provide the following program:

Selecting a good producing bird by score card ..... D. Richardson
Selecting a good breeding fowl ..... Roy Foss
Selecting hatching eggs ..... R. Kilgore
Selecting incubator to use and running same ..... L. Knightly
Description of electric brooder and running same ..... E. Perry
Care and Management of Brooder Chicks for first six weeks ..... W. Young Sticking and dry picking a fowl ..... R. Gates
Records to be kept on a poultry farm ..... V. Everett
Care and management of laying stock ..... K. Aldrich
Process of culling the flock ..... J. Pike and L. Richardson
A modern poultry house ..... C. Tucker
Common diseases and insects of poultry ..... A. Jackson

Mr. Thomas is to give some lantern slides on poultry and the remainder of the program will be furnished largely by students.

Dinner at 12 o'clock with open meeting in the afternoon.

Luck Bros., contractors, commenced this week with a crew at Hebron making temporary repairs on part of Sturtevant Home at Hebron Academy, saved from the recent fire. This part is the kitchen annex and a temporary dining hall is to be erected.

The I. O. O. F. minstrel program for Norway, March 17, and South Paris, March 18, has been made up and a lively entertainment is promised. The first part will show a colorful setting with snappy music, funny jokes and keen novelties. The olio features the Nevin Ladies' Quartette of South Paris in vocal numbers sure to please. A large group of young ladies with Miss Voter, the soloist, will appear in natty costumes and do some stepping. Lloyd Cutting and John Chandler, high school boys from South Paris, have a good routine in an acrobatic act and Walter Chandler appears in a novelty entitled "Nothin' Much—Just Free Air." The American Rose finale will prove a fitting climax. Dancing after the show at South Paris.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stone is at the Maine General Hospital at Portland for treatment.

Young People's Conference

REV. CHARLES DAVIS, State Superintendent, Formerly Director of Religious Education of Emanuel Baptist Church, Portland

All interested in the fourth annual Young People's Conference, will keep in mind this meeting at the Second Congregational Church in Norway, March 11 and 12.

There have been enanges in the programs printed last week. Additions to the program committee are Edna Bean, Charles Austin and Eugenia Haselton.

The Saturday morning watch will be conducted by Reta Shaw, Barbara Beede and Wilma Calef.

Marion L. Ulmer will bring messages to the young people.

In addition to the advertised speakers at the banquet, young people from the churches will have a part and the prospects look very favorable for a fine meeting. The Methodist Church will provide supper for the out-of-town delegates arriving Friday evening. The remainder of the evening will be given over to registration and a get-acquainted social in the vestry of the Congregational Church.

Meetings will be held Saturday morning, beginning at eight o'clock. Everyone who is interested is invited to attend these meetings whether they are registered delegates or not.

At noon the delegates will go to the Universalist Church where a very substantial luncheon will be served. After a short period of meetings, the afternoon will be turned over to general recreation.

At five-fifteen a fine banquet of cold meats, mashed potato, salads and all the fixings will be served to the delegates in the vestry of the Congregational Church. There will be plenty of cheering, singing and stunts and an orchestra will fill the intervals, while the eating is going on, with music. The speakers are picked from the conference leaders and some of the prominent local men. Short toasts will be given by several of the young people. The feature of the evening will be a candle light service under the direction of Rev. Marguerite Pearman. The closing words of the Conference will be given by Rev. C. B. Oliver of Bethel. It is hoped that a great number of the local young people will cooperate by registering as delegates to enjoy the whole of this excellent program.

Discussed The Boy Criminal

Speaker at the Kiwanis Meeting

Justice William R. Pattangall, presiding at the Oxford County Judicial Court, was the speaker at a recent luncheon of the Norway-Paris Kiwanis Club.

Among other important matters pertaining to our courts, Justice Pattangall emphasized the problem of the boy criminal. He said in part, "I have held only five terms of court, yet in all of them I have had more or less to do with boys under fifteen years of age, charged with offenses against the law which are often serious. What shall we do with these boys? Our method of taking care of them, even with the best men we can get in our state institutions, is not accomplishing its purpose. The probation system, too, falls short of the results to be desired, many times because the appointments are political rather than judicial."

Speaking about jury service, he said, "Business men should be willing to serve on juries. This does not apply in Oxford County, because here you draw of your good men, but in some counties the best qualified men for jury service are unwilling to give that service.

"Bear in mind that the law is primarily not so much punitive as it is protective. We say the law should be enforced, but the primary purpose of the law is to protect us in our lives, our property and our freedom of action. While ours is a threefold system of government, with a legislative branch to make laws and an executive branch to administer them, the final governing agency is in the court, and its edict is the last word."

Norway Municipal Court

Wm. F. Jones, Judge

In Court, Saturday, Maurette Brown of South Paris pleaded guilty of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. He was fined $10 and costs, which were paid and respondent discharged. Complaint was made by Deputy Fred E. Wheeler.

ELLINORE CLEMENT VIVIAN

Many of the Norway residents, and those who spend the summers at the lake, are pained to learn of the death of Miss Ellinor C. Vivian, on Feb. 28. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie L. Vivian, who own and occupy a camp, summers, at Lake Pennesseewassee, with a residence in Plainfield, N. J. She was a granddaughter of Mrs. and the late Richard E. Clement, her mother's name before marriage, was Elinor R. Clement.

Ellinore was known as "Billie" among a large circle of friends and a general favorite with the townspeople and guests. She was born July 4, 1915, and had enjoyed every summer in Norway, first at the home of her grandparents, the Cross Ways Farm on Pike Hill and afterwards on the lakeside.

During the delirium of her fatal sickness she talked of nothing but Norway and Lake Pennesseewassee.

Besides her parents and grandmother, she leaves two brothers, Leslie L. Jr. aged seven years, and Richard C., aged six years, and other relatives.

The K. of P. will hold ladies night this Thursday evening with a banquet, in charge of P. C. Wm. H. D. Smith, to be served at six-thirty and followed by a social evening. The cast of the recent drama put on by the Pythians will be the guests of the evening. The Pythian Sisters have an invitation to be present.

PARIS TOWN MEETING

Town Officers Elected

Moderator—Walter L. Gray.
Clerk—Robert W. Wheeler.
Selectmen—E. B. Curtis, Robert E. Shaw, L. H. Emery.
Treasurer—Chas. H. Howard.
Collector—Charles O. Barrows.
Road Commissioners—James H. Combellack, Scott O. Colby, G. L. Emery.
S. S. Com.—Austin P. Stearns, Jr.

The meeting passed quietly with only a ripple of excitement over the question of purchasing a tractor, more especially the kind and when it should be used.

Electing a tax collector resulted in a contest featuring Charles O. Barrows who made a record on collections the past year, and George W. Richardson. Mr. Barrows was elected with 218 ballots, Mr. Richardhad 68. Compensation for collecting is three-fourths of one per cent. as last year.

The salary of the treasurer, Charles H. Howard, was increased from $400 to $600.

For road commissioner, James Combellack received 201 of 202 votes cast. Slott O. Colby was also elected, having secured 91 out of 93 votes The north end section presented 3 candidates as follows: G. L. Emery, 103; E. H. Pike, 18; G. L. Briggs, 9.

Austin P. Stearns Jr. was elected a member of the school committee to succeed Percival J. Parris, who filled the unexpired term of Miss Jeannie Hubbard.

Purchasing a tractor met with almost universal approval, but the kind brought out a wide variety of opinion. It was voted for the selectmen and a committee to buy one, price not to exceed $3,500, amount to be taken from the regular road appropriation. Committee appointed comprises E. J. Mann, S. P. Stearns, R. H. Gates.

Selectmen and school committee were instructed to sell the Shurtleff schoolhouse for not less than $2000.

For Memorial Day $115.00 was appropriated for South Paris and $35 for West Paris.

Articles for the abatement of taxes on Emerson Tucker property and extending the sewer up High street were passed over. An article relative to granting money for sidewalks met a similar fate.

H. Walter Dennison, H. H. Wardwell and Seward P. Stearns were chosen a committee to name a budget committee for next year. They were instructed to investigate and report on a plan for a town manager.

Variety Shower and Reception

A variety shower was given Mr. and Mrs. Elmer T. Dean, who were recently, married, at Grand Army Hall, Thursday evening by the auxiliary of the Sons of Veterans, of which Mrs. Dean is a member. The hall was prettily decorated in pink and white.

A program was given which included a piano solo by Walter Irvine, reading by Annie Scothorne, violin solo by Geraldine Bennett, reading by Mildred Irvine, vocal solo by Elsie Fleming, reading by Gertrude Judkins. Then Nathalie Murch and Earl Combellack appeared in a tableau as bride and groom, with Walter Irvine as the minister, and a basket of wedding gifts was presented to Mr and Mrs. Dean as the real bridal couple. Refreshments, including a wedding cake, were served.

Webber-Soper

Lester E. Webber and Miss Elinor Pauline Soper were united in marriage Saturday evening, March 5, Robert W. Wheeler, Justice of the Peace, officiating. Mrs. Webber is the daughter of George and the late Etto Swift Soper, and has always lived in South Paris. Mr. Webber has been here for the past few years as distributor of Nissen's bakery products. They will reside here.

F. E. Morgan went to Lewiston, Monday.

Mrs. Carrie Swan and Mr and Mrs. L. Whitman of Norway called, recently, at F. E. Morgan's.

The Paris High School basketeers journeyed to Mexico Friday, and gave that strong team a jolt although they failed to win. Paris held the locals, who were not sure of the result until the last whistle sounded. Score was Mexico 21, Paris 14. Five of the ten floor baskets captured by Mexico were from the crack center Jamieson. For Paris, McGinley landed four in scrimage and Pratt, one. Four points were made on the foul line against a lone point by Mexico.

Miss Ruth Crockett has returned to Shaw's Business College after spending a few weeks with her aunt, Mrs. Don Beam.

Mrs. O. L. Buck is ill at her home on Skillings Avenue.

A bill introduced in the legislature by Representative Wheeler of Paris relates to the Oxford County Agricultural Society. It provides that the society may hold or use any real estate the yearly income of which shall not exceed $3,000 instead of $300, as at present. It further provides that any resident of the State has a right to enter any contest or make an exhibit at the Oxford County Agricultural Society for the purpose of competing for and receiving premiums or prizes from the society.

Uncle Lem's Sayings

The country at large feels a great sense of relief that Congress, which has been dominated by the "wild asses of the Prairie" has adjourned and left Calvin at the helm, to steer the Ship of State until next December.

The closing hours of the session of the Senate was enlivened by one of the most spectacular and interesting filibusters which ever took place in that body, and strangely enough, the principals were two cousins by the name of Reed—Jim of Missouri and Dave of Pennsylvania. Jim is "rambunctious," no matter whether in public life or out. Woodrow Wilson characterized him as a willful man, and desired his defeat for the Senate in 1920, but conditions favored him and he was elected.

Dave is a more quiet and modest man, but has suddenly risen to national fame as downing Jim. He was aided, however, in his fight by Senators George H. Moses of New Hampshire and Cole Bleash of South Carolina.

And who cares a rap what it was all about? Everything was lost sight of in the country at large, but the conferants. When Jim gave notice that unless his roving commission to investigate bribery and corruption at the election of Senators in 1926 was extended beyond the 4th of March, he would, under the rules of the Senate, hold up all legislation, for the remainder of the session, he assumed altogether too much authority and it became of the first importance to teach him a lesson, and he got it good.

The people long ago made up their minds that Vare should be denied a seat in the Senate, and if the members desire more evidence in his case, which seems entirely unnecessary, the new committee on Privileges and Elections, should ignore it. A roving commission conducted for parties and spectacular purposes, just before a Presidential campaign, is certainly out of place.

The Boston Herald says that the odium for the defeat of Jim's resolution falls on Dave. Your Uncle Lemuel thinks the odium, so far as Dave is concerned, can be blown away with a gaffaw and that the "odium" rests on Jim's shoulders, for preventing the passage of such acts as the deficiency bill. And what "odium" falling on Dave does not equally fall upon Senators Moses and Blease? This looks like "pussy footing" such as was shown in the editorial treatment of the Columbia University professors when by their headlessness, not to use a stronger term, they embarrassed the Government by their impracticable proposition to reconsider the foreign debts settlements.

Senator Cole Blease had a personal interest in the filibuster. He could see "the nigger in the wood pile" and didn't want any investigation of the elections down in South Carolina. Wise old coon! It would do no good, but only would cause more hatred between the races. The great mistake was made after the Civil War, in giving the ballot to an ignorant people, who were not fitted for it. Had President Lincoln lived, this would not have been. Better now to let the situation alone, to work out its own remedy.

It is said that Jim will continue his investigations. This is not likely. There is no appropriation to pay the expenses. The old Congress is dead, the new one began on the afternoon of March 4th, when all its members, appearing by certificates of election filed, commenced to draw pay. If we remember correctly, Jim was not re-elected, and his term as Senator expired with the 69th Congress. As a presidential candidate, he would cut a sorry figure in a contest with Al Smith.

The fillibusterers let up long enough for the Senate to adopt the report of the Committee on Elections, drawn up by Senator George of Georgia, exonerating Senator Arthur R. Gould of Maine from any corruption in his contest for his seat, which he was entitled to retain.

Oxford Pomona Grange

Tuesday, March 1, was an ideal winter day, after the severe snow storm, which caused such a hold-up of traffic. While no autos came bringing Oxford Pomona members to West Paris, trains and teams brought more than the usual number so that by eleven o'clock the meeting opened with an attendance of about two hundred people.

Worthy Master Saunders called to order and found all officers present except the Chaplain, Ceres and Lady Assistant Steward. Rev. A. W. Young was appointed chaplain pro tem, Edith McIntire as Ceres, and Elsie Cole as L. A. S.

The usual order of business was taken up; voted to send a contribution of $10 to the Home for Little Wanderers. The subject of having a press correspondent was discussed. The committee on credentials reported two candidates in waiting, both from Oxford Grange. These were duly instructed in the 5th degree. Tableaux were used for the first time, and added quite a little to the work. Recess was then declared for dinner. Many were the compliments paid the committee on the excellence of their dinner, both for the quality as well as the quantity.

At open session in the afternoon the census of Granges was as follows: Hebron 2, Paris 37, Norway 13, Oxford 6, Bear Mt. 2, Franklin 50, Pleasant Valley 2, Bear River 3, West Paris 42, Pleasant Pond 15, Round Mt. 5; visitors, Kennebec Pomona 2, Falmouth 1, New Century Pomona 6.

The meeting was then turned over to the lecturer, who opened his programme with a song by the chorus, Address of welcome, Wm. Littlehale, Master of West Paris Grange; response by the assistant steward, Austin Stearns, Jr.; vocal solo with encore, H. R. Tuell.

Next came a talk by Millard Baldwin from the Maine Institute for the Blind. Several samples of the work done by the blind was passed around for observation. Piano solo and encore, Leah Waterhouse; Dialogue, Bargain Day, by two members of West Paris Grange. Bro. McIntire was then called on for remarks, he spoke briefly on the question of Maine Water Powers. Vocal solos with encore, Marjorie Hall. The speaker of the day was then introduced, W. C. Hunton, industrial agent for the Maine Central Railroad. He spoke on the Transportation of Potatoes, etc., farm life, and the Boys' and Girls' Club work. His talk was very interesting and all enjoyed it as was shown by the close attention paid him and by the rising vote of thanks extended him. Reading and encore, Edith Ellingwood; violin solo with encore, Ralph Doughty; pantomime, The Widow Murphy's Clothesline, by members of West Paris Grange. Solo with encore, Ursula Rowe; song by the chorus, God Be With You Till We Meet Again; closed in form. Next meeting at Welchville.

SOUTH WATERFORD

Visitor Here from Auburn—Woodsman at Five Years—Grange Meeting.

Raymond Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Jordan of Auburn motored here recently and spent Sunday with the Yorkes. Mr. Jordan is to build a cottage on the shore of the lake this spring. The men brought fish bait for Charles Yorke. Have not heard Mr. Yorke telling any big fish yarns yet.

Mrs. A. A. Monroe and daughter, Ethel, spent a very happy day at Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Abbott's, on Wednesday. A chicken dinner with all sorts of fine foods was served. It was a day devoted to fun and laughter and was good for the sick, as well as healthy.

Frank Bell has been suffering from a hemorrhage of the nose. He is better.

Little Eric Hamlin, five years of age, has become quite a woodsman. He cuts down trees several feet in height. Just hacks away at them until they fall. He is Carl Hamlin's oldest son.

W. W. Abbott and wife spent the day with Dr. Hubbard's family, on Friday, at Waterford. This is the first day Will has been away from home so far since his operation in December.

Little William Haynes has been ill with a croupy cold.

Mrs. Wyman Kimball and three children are visiting her mother, Mrs. Carrie Kingman.

Mrs. Arthur Kingman has been entertaining her brother, Clifford, and his little girl, Irene, who is just from the hospital for a tonsil operation.

Lloyd Thompson had an ill turn recently, but is able to be out again.

Ethel M. Monroe called on Mrs. Pearl Bradbury, Tuesday. She went on snowshoes and rode home with Mrs. Bessie McAllister. It did not prove to be very good snowshoeing.

The postponed Grange meeting of Feb. 26 was held on Saturday, March 5th. Marjorie Kingman and Ida Morgan were the able dinner committee and at noon a nice Grange dinner was served. The meeting in the afternoon gave a good literary program, ending with a lively discussion on the town warrant. Next meeting comes on next Saturday, March 2th, in the evening. Millie Clark and Marjorie Kingman have the program in charge and it is sure to be a good one.

Town meeting came on Monday. Mr. Hamlin and his trusty driver, Charles Kingman, with Joe Skinner as footman, took us folks up to the town house with two horses. It was a very lively meeting and a big attendance. The Circle served one of their fine dinners at noon.

Mrs. Burnham Rice and son, Rufus, of North Waterford, recently visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bell.

WEST LOVELL

C. D. Lord put in a week's time breaking roads for the town, Orlando Allard and himself.

Irving Bowley was in Sweden, Saturday, visiting his folks. His brother, Vernis, returned home with him.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. McAllister and Sylvia spent Sunday with Frank Stone, in Sweden.

George H. Fox was up, Sunday, to see his father, W. S. Fox, at D. M. Fox's.

Mrs. Fred Stearns was at her son's, George's, and family, on Sunday afternoon.

George and Willie Guptill of Chatham were over to their place, Saturday.

POULTRY RAISERS ON ACCREDITED LIST

The names of three Oxford County poultry keepers appear in the accredited list released by the Department of Bacterology and Veterinary Science of the State College of Agriculture at Orono. The names are Florence Spaulding, East Sumner; Mabel Dyer, East Sumner, Orchard Poultry Farm, Brownfield.

To have a name on this accredited list means that the flock has been tested for bacillary white diarrhea and has been found free of the disease. There are a total of 59 names on this list against 32 last year. The number of tests increased from 26,000 to 33,000.

It is most encouraging to see this marked increase in the number of flocks free of the disease. This means that there are a greater number of sources of hatching eggs and day old chicks from which Maine farmers can buy their stock near home.

Bacillary white diarrhea has proven a fatal disease in scores of flocks in the State of Maine causing the death frequently of 50 per cent. or more of the chicks and occasionally as high as 75 per cent. or even higher of the chicks hatched or purchased.

A copy of this accredited list can be secured from the College of Agriculture or from the local agent, R. F. Thomas in South Paris. The list indicates whether chicks or hatching eggs or both are for sale and thus prove helpful to the person interested in making a purchase of stock, indicating in each case what breed is kept.

Why not let New Hampshire and Massachusetts help to pay the costs of putting electricity on Maine Farms?

"Why should we allow electric energy to be exported to New Hampshire or Massachusetts when there are so many Maine farms which want this electric energy and unable to get it?"

To anyone not familiar with the operation end of a power and light company, this seems like a reasonable question.

Compare Electric Service with Grocer

But the same economic barrier that prevents a grocer from making long deliveries, into sparsely settled parts of the country with small orders applies to electric service.

The grocer has plenty of meats and vegetables and supplies to furnish his rural customers but the cost of delivery makes it impossible. No business can be conducted any length of time at a loss unless someone pays for it.

The same condition applies to electric service.

Must Consider Delivery Costs

Central Maine Power Company has plenty electric energy today to furnish all the farms within its territory with electric service. It is not a question of not having the power, but a question of the very large cost of delivery.

One Way Open to Serve Maine Farmers

However, from a study of its rural service possibilities, there appears to be a way in which electric service may be extended to thousands of Maine farms that never could be reached otherwise.

Our engineers estimate that during the year nineteen hundred and twenty-seven, 125,000,000 kilowatt hours of SURPLUS energy will run to WASTE at our existing plants.

This is power that we actually have machinery to produce.

This amount of power, if sold, ought to net the Company several hundred thousand dollars per year.

Make Amendment to Smith Bill

Knowing this to be so; and that there is a present market for this surplus in oil and coal producing power systems in New Hampshire and Massachusetts, Central Maine Power Company has added an amendment to the Smith Bill, which in reality provides for the extension of rural service to Maine farms from the money which it receives from the sale of this waste of surplus power to New Hampshire and Massachusetts users.

In part this amendment reads as follows:

..no permit shall issue to any public utility authorized to distribute and sell electric current or energy within any portion of the State of Maine, unless said permit contains an express condition that it shall become void UNLESS SAID PUBLIC UTILITY SHALL EXPEND ANNUALLY, FOR A TERM OF 10 YEARS FROM THE DATE OF ITS FIRST SALE OF SUCH ELECTRICITY TO SAID TRANSMISSION COMPANY, A SUM EQUAL TO ONE-HALF THE AMOUNT RECEIVED BY IT FOR THE ENERGY SO SOLD TO SAID TRANSMISSION COMPANY, UP TO A MAXIMUM EXPENDITURE FOR ANY ONE YEAR OF $250,000 FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF RURAL ELECTRIC SERVICE....said expenditure to be under the direction of the Public Utilities Commission of Maine.

Officers and directors of Central Maine Power Company honestly and sincerely feel that in presenting the Smith Bill to the legislature of Maine, it is opening the door to lower rates, more industries, better service and electrification of farms that could not in any other manner be served profitably.

Proper Legislation Will Help

The ability of Maine power companies to develop more power, to serve their territories more effectively, to reach a larger number of rural customers each year and to reduce their rates depends largely upon the passage of legislation which will enable the waste or surplus power from their plants to be marketed under proper state supervision.

Let Maine voters decide Maine's future at the referendum provided for in the Smith Bill.

Central Maine Power Co.

USING TIME

We speak of "killing time", but the phrase is a misnomer. Time is but the opportunity to accomplish something. All that we kill is our own chances.

Time to the unwise is an invitation to be exchanged for other treasures—knowledge, fame, wealth, attainment, service or healthful recreation.

Time to the unwise is an invitation to folly, a means of self destruction. To the idler it is a bore.

In most cases it is fair to judge a man by the values he places on time, for it is the true measure of his own real value.

Time is the one thing that can't be laid by for a rainy day. It must be used or it is lost forever.

Someone has said that opportunity knocks but once at everyone's door, but in reality every moment is an opportunity.

Time is the great democrat—it comes alike to all. It knows no favorites, no social distinctions, draws no line between race or color.

Neglected, time returns no more. It never runs in reverse—always forward and at high speed, into hours, days, months, and years.

To a great general, a few minutes means the difference between victory and defeat. To a great statesman, an hour may spell attainment or disappoint. To anyone it may mean the difference between success and failure.

TOWN GRAVE-DIGGERS

In nearly every community may be found quite a number of persons who consider themselves leading citizens, but who in truth are helping to dig a grave for their town.

They do it through a failure to support the institutions which make the town what it is. They do it by sending away for merchandise which might be bought with equal advantage at home. They do it frequently through thoughtlessness, but oftener through sheer disregard for the welfare of the community of which they are a part.

The doctrine of buying at home is not advanced solely in the interest fo individual merchants. It is advocated because every citizen of a town is to a certain extent dependent upon every other citizen for his own prosperity. Business men are sometimes as greatly at fault as anyone else in the matter of out-of-town trading.

If the shoe dealer sends away for his automobile tires and the automobile man sends away for his furniture and the furniture man sends away for his clothing, and so on, how can they expect to build local prosperity?

All the fine talk about civic pride that we may indulge in will never make a town, so long as the life blood of the community—the cold cash—is spent elsewhere.

A man may make boosting speeches until he is black in the face, but unless he spends his money where he makes it, he is a home-town grave-digger.

Heywood Club Notes

Heywood Club met Wednesday, Mar. 2, with Mrs. Inez Parker at her home. A good attendance of Club members but no visitors this time. Meeting opened as usual and all officers present. An interesting citizenship meeting was very much enjoyed. The quilt committee brought several squares of patchwork of different, pretty designs and one was selected by which to pattern the quilt from. Other plans which were put before the meeting by the improvement committee, Una Jackson, were talked over and decided upon and other business matters attended to. The Club has arranged to take up for the year 1927, programs regarding the "American Home" and have sent for bulletins and reading material to help them in their work. A program will be arranged for each meeting by the program committee, Eleanor Lovejoy, Eva Richardson and Addie Thurston. The members will give talks on various interesting subjects concerning the American homes and the work in and around our homes and grounds, such as homemaking, home laundering, sewing, home equipment, cooking, planting the home grounds, flowers, etc. We hope to be able to write an outline from our work of each meeting and all are looking forward to a very interesting and pleasant year, with time well spent in our Club work.

The first program will be "The Four Walls of Home," with a quotation by Warren G. Harding "We want an America of homes, illumined with hope and happiness where mothers, freed from the necessity of long hours of toil beyond their own doors, may preside." Also one by Gifford Pinchot, "The nation that will lead the world will be a nation of homes." Music, "Home Sweet Home." A paper on homemaking and other interesting readings will follow.

The supper for the Aggie boys was talked over and will be arranged for later. Meeting was then adjourned to meet in two weeks with Mrs. Alva Richardson. Mrs. Parker entertained with music on the Victrola. She showed us a patchwork quilt which was made by hand many years ago, it was quilted in the old fashioned stitching, all very fine and closely and all hand work. A very nice lunch was served by Mrs. Parker of nut bread sandwiches, cake and hot cocoa, and another pleasant meeting came to a close.

Heywood Club held a pie supper Friday night, Feb. 25, at Will Young's, about 50 people attended. Bidding off the pies was great sport and the proceeds amounted to eleven dollars, which was turned over to the improvement committee to be added to the fund for more repairs which they intend to make on the Club house this Spring.

Fannie Crooker is ill with grip and has been threatened with pneumonia at her room at Dr. I. W. Staples'. Mrs Eunice Marston is caring for her.

H. W. Palmer, a telephone lineman, found a sum of money on Marston Street, Saturday. It was not a large amount, but some person will be delighted to recover the property.

Norway Lodge I.O. O. F. will confer the initiatory degree, Tuesday evening, March 15.

HODGE-PODGE WENT GREAT

The Employees' Hodgepodge at Norway Opera House, Wednesday evening, sponsered by the Liberty Insurance Co., was largely attended. This show was for the workers at the Jellerson-Rafter Company., the Norway Shoe Co. and the Novelty Turning Co. and featured Safety First themes. The big idea was to show how accidents happen and how to prevent them.

Mr Gurney, assistant chief engineer of New England, was in charge. He spoke interestingly on the subject, "Serious Side of Safety,' 'dealing principally with industrial accidents.

A fine entertainment for amusement and instruction was provided. Instrumental numbers were rendered by Norway talent, Miss Marion Haskell, violinist, Harriet Morgan Briston, accompanist and piano soloist.

Several reels of pictures were shown, comprising the comedies, "Ichbod Crane," and a juvenile subject. Two reels of "The Outlaw" provided a thrill.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Longley were in Portland from Monday to Thursday of this week attending the plumbers' convention and banquet at Falmouth Hotel.

Tickets for the I. O. O. F. minstrels now being sold by the Rebekahs and others may be checked at Stone's, Norway and Howard's, South Paris, Monday, March 14.

Harold Moore is securing talent for the annual Legion Minstrels. The overture has arrived and work for the chorus is being laid out.

W. R. C. NOTES

Harry Rust Relief Corps held regular meeting Tuesday evening and an interesting report was made on the annual town meeting dinner. Twenty-five dollars was realized. There was good patronage and the dinner was highly complimented. Mrs. Edith Edwards was chairman of the committee and with an able corps of assistants every one was served quickly. The president appointed her committees for the year as follows:

Executive Committee—Mrs. Helen Canwell, Mrs. Alice Blaquiere, Mrs. Queenie Saleeby, Clara Ames, Mrs. Rossie Monk.

Flower Committee—Carrie Tucker and Mrs. Ida Hall.

Resolutions—Clara Jordan and Mrs. Eva Fogg.

Relief—Mrs. Alice Blaquiere, Mrs. Esther Lapham, Mrs. Queenie Saleeby.

Auditing—Mrs. Elizabeth Sampson, Carrie Tucker, Mrs. Geneva Knapp.

Conference—Mrs. Evelyn Young, Mrs. Persis Walker, Mrs. Eliza Whitman, Mrs. Sarah Woodsum, Mrs. Sarah Farham.

A committee for next meeting includes Mrs. Rossie Monk, Mrs. Annie Beck, and Clara Ames, and they will arrange for a penny lunch. Each member will invite a guest for the special hour and lunch.

There will be a stated convocation of Oxford Royal Arch Chapter No. 29, F. & A. M., Wednesday evening, March 16. Work, Royal Arch Degree. Refreshments after the work.

The first Free Baby Clinic of the season will be held Friday and Saturday, March 25-26 at the Universalist church vestry as heretofore, commencing at 1.30 in the afternoon. Miss Clye Ricker from the Maine Baby Saving Society will be in attendance with local physicians. It is the purpose to have clinics every month, if the mothers wish them, and the previous clinics have meant so much to many children. Many defects have been corrected and much good accomplished.

The ladies of the Farm Bureau will hold their Mar. meeting on Thurs., the 17, at Norway Grange Hall. This will be Spring millinery and Mrs. Kate Bennett will be in charge. The Home Demonstration Agent, Miss Bradeen will be present. Dinner at noon. Every one invited.

The Daughters of Veterans will meet for regular meeting Friday evening at 7 o'clock, and the business session will be followed by a St. Patrick social. Each member will invite a guest. All will wear something green or a small fine will be imposed. Refreshments will be served by the committee which includes Mrs. Ruby Sharon, Mrs. Virgie Merrill, Mrs. Gladys Noyes and Mrs. Vesta Smith.

John C. Shepard has sold a lot on the easterly side of Lake Pennesseewassee to Fred Blankard of New Rochelle, N. Y., who will build a substantial camp during the summer. The lot adjourns the property of C. H. Brush of Philadelphia.

"Yes, I've navigated pretty well in this slush for a man past seventy," is what Hiram Wiles tells us. He was 70, August 15th, last.

Mr. Merchant, Mr. Gormon and Mr. Hughes of the New England Insurance Exchange, Fire Underwriters of Boston, inspected the fire department and fire alarm and made a severe test on the water works and pumping station. Tests were made at different parts of the village. They spoke very highly of the water system and mentioned that Norway had as good a fire alarm system and water system as there is in the state.

EAST OTISFIELD

Birthday Party and Surprise for Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Martin.

Mrs C O Martin had a hen hatch out 10 chickens one day last week.

Mrs. Albert Edwards and two children, Ina and Herbert, also Mrs. Ernest Greenleaf, were Sunday guests at Mr. and Mrs. J. H Wiley's, Naples.

A birthday party was given to Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Martin at their home as it was C. O. Martin's Mar. 5 and Mrs. Martin's, Mar. 11, they celebrated together. The largest surprise for the evening was that their daughter, Mrs. Ollie Burns, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Eugene Burns, of Portsmouth, N. H., came to spend the weed end. Each had a birthday cake with lighted candles and also sandwiches, cake and coffee were served. There were about 20 and the evening was enjoyed by all.

The boys' basket ball team played against Oxford High school and the score was 39-51 in favor of Oxford.

Mrs. Dana Hamlin and daughter, Lida, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Culbert and family.

Mrs. Arthur Low returned to her home at Portland, last week.

$1,505.00 was raised which was to be expended in repairs and in buying things for the schoolroom. At three-fifteen, Friday afternoon, a number of the parents arrived and a surprise party was given the teacher, her birthday being Sunday, Mar. 6th. Two beautifully decorated cakes were made by Mrs. A. E. Bean and Mrs. William Poole. A treat of homemade candy and cake was served by the visitors and pupils. The teacher received many beautiful gifts from the pupils. Those present were Mrs. A. E. Bean, Mrs. William Poole, Miss Cynthia Mayberry, Mrs. Fred Culbert, Miss Marion Culbert, Mrs. Chester Lamb, Mrs. Edwin Lamb, Mrs. Albert Edwards and Mrs. B. H. Dyer.

EAST WATERFORD

Some of the neighbors of Charles McKeen at Tuckerville gave him a surprise party, Mar. 2., the date being his 69th birthday. Although Mr. McKeen was caught napping he proved equal to the occasion and invited the guests to the McWain corn factory office and all enjoyed a piping hot oyster stew. A social hour followed, members of the party were Mr. and Mrs. C. N. McAllister and children and Frank Boubier.

What Liberty Is

One word in our language often misused, is the word liberty according to George B. Lockwood, writing editorially in the National Republic. Under the caption "The Meaning of Liberty," Mr. Lockwood says:

"Liberty is not the right of every man to do as he pleases. Every man cannot do as he pleases, since such an exercise of liberty would limit the similar right of others.

"Liberty is only the right to do as one pleases insofar as this does not sacrifice the freedom of others and the welfare of society.

"The savage in the jungle alone has that liberty which some conceive to be the right of every individual; that is to say, no law restrains him from working his own will.

"But in such a case the ambition of others to have that same liberty restrains its exercise. The strong prevail; the rights of the weak are sacrificed.

"In an ordered state the individual must sacrifice his "right" to maintain a public nuisance, disregard sanitation, defy quarantine, refuse schooling and satisfy his anti-social appetites in order that the people as a whole may have freedom from annoyance, disease, pauperism, ignorance or violence due to the exercise of what in a more primitive state of society would be considered natural rights.

"Our crop of anarchists—rebels against regulation in the interests of society—seems to be growing. Without counting the advantages of the protection which society gives them they wish not to be bound by the statutes and ordinances necessary to the protection of others. Such an attitude seems to be chiefly the result of excessive self-esteem.

"Especially is respect due social regulation when the safeguards against which complaint is made had been effected by legal process in a republic where law is public opinion crystallized.

"We have no law in this country which cannot be repealed whenever a majority of the people to decide. We have provided in our federal Constitution for the preservation of certain personal rights essential to freedom which even statutes cannot invade. We have a larger measure of true liberty in this country—the liberty of every man to work out his own destiny—than is found in any other country in the world.

"If every citizen should turn rebel against every law which does not suit him, the result would be anarchy, and the rights of all would be sacrificed To expect society to extend to us the protection of the laws we like and turn to denounce and defy those laws which impose disagreeable restraints upon us, is evidence of a lack of an underlying sense of fairness. People can live together only by mutual concessions and a decent regard for the rule of the game. Those who refuse to do so are not "square." They attach too much importance to themselves and too little to others.

"We hear much praise for the spirit of revolt. When people revolt against society they revolt against themselves. Those who sneer at the past and the institutions it has bequeathed to the present generation, too lightly estimate the value of their social and political and economic inheritance and the cost at which it has been gained. A little more time devoted to study of the good in what exists, and a little less to inventing something theoretically better out of thin air, would be beneficial to millions of Americans."

Getting Up Nights

Tells You of "Danger Ahead." A Normal Bladder Does Not Act at Nights

A. C. Smith, 41 W. Broad St., Bethlehem, Pa., says: "I am willing to tell or write of the benefits received from Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula). I now rise in the morning refreshed and feeling fine." It cleanses the bladder as epsom salts do the bowels, thereby neutralizing excess acids and driving out foreign matter which are the causes of abnormal bladder action. Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Sold by all drug stores. Locally at L. V. Ashton's, Druggist.

The Deceitful Wretch!

She had the car out one night. Had an accident—a nice dent and a few wrinkles. How the old man would "rave" if he knew it. He never got wise because she saw "Mike" first thing in the morning. No explanations are necessary if you see us first.

OLD POST OFFICE STATEMENT

P. F. Stone, Norway postmaster, shows us a postoffice statement that was made by Samuel Gibson of Denmark, in 1821. It covers the business in that office from January 13th to March 31st, and shows a business of a few cents in excess of $4. The balance due the General Post Office was $2.44.

Samuel Gibson was the grandfather of the late Mrs. F. A. Danforth, who was Addie Tenney, and who has a sister, Mrs. Inez Tenney Allen, who is the present possessor of this ancient statement.

VERANDA CLUB

Veranda Club met with Mrs. Alice Blaquiere, Wednesday evening, March 2. Mrs. Avis Davis was hostess, a pleasant evening was enjoyed. After the business meeting, the hostess served lunch.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Addie Olmstead, Thursday evening, March 17.

Myths in American History

By C. F. Whitman

The subject of myths is a very interesting one.

King Arthur and his Knights of the Round Table is one of the most delightful of books and the stories young people never tire of reading.

Robin Hood and his associates of the forest is another band whose exploits are read by young and old with delight. These characters and stories about them are mythical and so regarded by scholars. They form a literature in themselves. Far different it is when we find myths passing as historical events or facts. Such should be expurged by correct or written history. But myths have crept, in one way or another, into every language, religion and history of every people on earth. And this is not strange, considering how races and peoples have come up from unlettered beginnings. We are, even today, prone to dwell upon the seeming marvelous and tell wonderful tales.

The writers of histories should have regard for truth, but into our own history of events, dating from the English settlement at Jamestown, Va., 1607, have crept many things which cannot be true. One, John Josselyn came from England about the middle of the seventeenth century to Black Point—now Scarboro—in Maine, to visit his brother, Henry, who was one of the most prominent characters in the early government of the Province. On his return to England, he wrote of his visit, the productions, annual events, etc. Some of his animals were such monsters that they equalled many of those in prehistoric ages, but have never been seen in Maine since. The discredited Parson Weems in his Life of George Washington, which for marvelous things about the boyhood of the father of his country, rival the fabled creatures John Josselyn found in Maine.

Half a dozen myths may be noted in the history of our country. Taking these in the order of their alleged origin, we will consider the story of the Indian princess, Pocohontas, saving the life of Capt. John Smith, when a captive in the power of Powhatan. All know the story and it is not necessary to retell it here. Literary critics of note say the story cannot be true. Their reasons are these: Smith wrote home to England two accounts of his explorations and events which took place in the colony of Jamestown, but no mention was made by him in his narratives of any such occurrence. One or two others wrote home during that period, and no mention was made by them, either, of this event which must have been known, if true, by everybody, and commented upon as a very remarkable occurrence. Smith did not write anything about this wonderful story until after the death of Pocohontas. After she had gone to England as the wife of John Rolfe, Smith sent a petition to King James to grant her a pension. In it, he stated that she had been of great assistance to the colony and himself, but he did not state that Pocohontas had saved his life. We know that it was a custom among some savage tribes, where captives were taken and designated for execution, squaws might adopt them into their families and thus their lives would be saved. No such a thing as this happened. Pocohontas was a child at that time and this custom would not apply in this case, but it might furnish Smith the basis for this most remarkable story.

North Lovell Winter Carnival

The big storm Saturday, Feb. 26, made it necessary to postpone the North Lovell Winter Carnival until the following Monday. But even the snow didn't prevent the good time. About 2.30, P. M. people began to gather in Perley McKeen's pasture where there was a good ski-jump built. In spite of Prude Bedard's efforts to make the jump, it withstood the strain and was ready for use when the contests began. Guy Morse won first place in the senior jump, jumping 30 feet and 4 inches. Stephen Andrews followed a close second with a jump of 30 feet. Henry Fox broke the ski jump and carried off the white ribbon.

The intermediate jump was won by Lester Butters who jumped 27 ft. Paul Adams jumped 24 ft. and has the distinction of being the only contestant to land right side up. Donald Andrews won the blue ribbon in the junior ski jump by one foot over Herman Bedard's jump of eleven feet.

Some of the other events were the 100 yd. dash, obstacle races for boys and girls, long distance race.

At six o'clock, supper was served by the ladies in the Grange Hall to about seventy-five people. Everyone did justice to this good feed of baked beans, pickles, salads, cakes, pies etc.

In the evening the ribbons were awarded. Seymore Butters was the biggest point man. He carried off enough ribbons to make a sofa pillow. Thelma Morse won about eighty points and was chosen queen of the carnival, closely rivaled by Pauline Kendall, of Slab City, with Marion Adams a close third.

Everyone enjoyed the six reels of moving pictures and the lively social afterward. All resolved to make the carnival next year rival this year's in size but it can't outdo the spirit shown this year.

Rev. Bull and Rev. Wentworth contributed much to the success of the affair by supervising the events and procuring the movies.

Chickens may be infected with tuberculosis and spread it to hogs, according to recent tests.

"Had Never Dared Hope for Such Rosy, Rugged Health"

Respected Augusta matron tells life-long fight for health. Puny and fragile from childhood, sees husband helped to health by Tanlac and tries it. Gains 53 lbs. Robust at last, thanks Tanlac

At No. 2 Tobey St., Augusta, Me., lives Mrs. William Moody, well and favorably known to a large circle of friends. Fragile from childhood, always ailing, she never dared hope for robust health. Here is her story in her own words: "As long as I can remember, I have been puny and sickly. My parents did all they could when I was a child, to strengthen my constitution. But puny I remained. I never expected to be otherwise.

"My husband's marvelous recovery from three years of wasting illness encouraged me. If Tanlac could do so much for him, why not for me? So I gave it a fair trial. I really did not expect more than a temporary relief. But what it actually did was to rebuild my system entirely. From 98 pounds I gradually grew to 151 lbs. and right now I feel peppier and stronger than ever I had dared hope.

"Tanlac alone is entitled to the credit for that astounding change. My husband and I both recommend it from first hand experience of its surprising results."

Thousands of citizens in every state of the Union have won renewed health and vigor with Tanlac. If you're run down from overwork, worry, or neglect, start building your way back to normalcy today. Get a trial bottle of Tanlac from your druggist. It is nature's own remedy made from herbs, roots and barks, according to the famous Tanlac formula. Over 52 million bottles sold.

The Jackson Letter

No. 628-5th St. N. St. Petersburg, Florida. Feb. 16, 1927. Dear Friends: Feb. 12th was a big day here. Admiral Christy, Commander of U. S. Control Force, 4th Div. with the Atlantic Fleet came into our harbor with the Camden and five Submarines, S-20, S-21, S-22, S-23, S-19. and the Bushnell and three Submarines, S-13, S-10, S-11, of the Third Div. They came from Key West where they had been laying to for repairs to the S-21, that was bunted by an oil tanker. The City put on gala dress and opened wide to entertain them. The City Officials went out in the "St. Petersburg Patrol" boat with colors flying and in two Speed Boats to meet them at the mouth of the harbor.. They were due to arrive at 8 A. M., but owing to the tide were not able to come in until noon and then had to anchor out in the channel, 1-2 mile from the new pier for submarines draw 18 ft. of water and have to allow three more to float in and there is just 18 ft. at the pier head. Airplanes escorted them over head; we have several here.

My nephew, Ernest Bradlee, who has spent so much of his younger life on the farm with us, and first enlisted in U. S. N. from Portland serving during the war with the "Suicide Fleet" of Mine Sweepers on the "Teal" in foreign waters, wrote me from Key West that his ship, S-20 would be with the fleet when it made in here, so I was at the pier at 8 A. M. and waited until noon when the first Officers' boat docked. I took courage in my hands and addressed the first officer to come up the stairs from the dock, and told him that I had a boy on the S-20 and asked him how I could get in touch with him since the subs could not dock. He called the Bo'sun's Mate and told him to tell "Bradlee" that his mother was on the dock waiting for him and for him to come over in the first service boat that docked. I did not deem it necessary to tell him that I was his aunt and not his mother for he was "my boy" for so many years. In short order I was greeting Ernest and on our way home with him, showing him the sights as we came along. We stopped at the Park and heard several selections by the naval band that had been escorted to the park in cars and invited to play in place of the "Kilties" that afternoon. The leader, Ernest told me, had only three more months to do service to cover the thirty years that gave him the privelige to retire with a good pension. Admiral Christy has served over forty years.

The officers were entertained at the Soreno Hotel with a big banquet in the ballroom, then at the Yacht Club and then with a ball at the Vinoy Hotel. The sailors were to make headquarters at the Legion, with free entry to the Colosseum and Palaise Royal, for dancing.

Of course every one wanted to go aboard the boats and the privelege was granted, but one must go out in the service boats which hold only 75 sailors, and board the Camden which is a tender for the 4th Div. Subs., or the Bushnell which is tender for the 3rd Div. Subs. Ernest had to be back on duty at 7.30 A. M. so we were to go out on the first boat at 2 o'clock and he would be waiting to receive us and show us over the boats. You can imagine the mob that was waiting to go, for there are over 100,000 people in the city now. "Well," I said to the Shore Patrol sailor who was policing at the stairs to the dock, "What ship, Buddie?" Then I told him that I had a boy on the S-20 who was losing "liberty," time off, waiting to show us around the boat. He said "Madam, slip right inside the ropes with your party (there were ten of us) and tell the officer at the head of the stairs and he will put you through at once." Well sir, there were 150 who slipped under the rope when we did and they crowded my party so that we were separated and lost Mr. Jackson and three others in the mob, and they were forced back with the rest behind the ropes again by the city police.

At the stair head I asked the officer from the Camden if he knew Ernest, and he said, "Bradlee from N. Y.? Is he your boy? Come right down onto the dock where you will have the best chance when the next boat comes in." I thanked him and we went down much to the disgust of the thousands waiting for a similar chance. When the boat came in Ernest was aboard it for we had missed two and he had become anxious about us. The Captain told him to go into the crowd and get the rest of our party and he would try and hold the boat a few minutes for him but we had to put out without him for the mob was furious and could not be controlled by the city police and they did not know that Ernest had authority to bring the other four through with him and one of my friends was beaten back with a billy because she would go through with Ernest when they told her to let his coat tails alone. But Mr. Jackson and one of the ladies got through with Ernest for the next boat and we waited for them at the Camden.

It was a delightful sail out and very interesting while we waited, to look over the ship. It was once a German tramp steamer confiscated during the war, and now used as tender with supplies for the 4th Div. of Submarines. It carries 300 in officers and crew, and Admiral Christy's quarters were aboard her. While we were there they were taking on supplies, and in a big woven rope basket they hauled up onto the deck six and eight bbls. at a time, crates of fruit, lettuce and vegetables, too. So I think they must live well on the ships. There is a black smith shop or foundry aboard and all things needed to supply the Subs.

Well at last Ernest, Mrs. Hughes, and Mr. Jackson came aboard and we went across the gang plank to the S-20 which was moored along side. It is a long narrow affair like a toy ship but 231 ft. long, with a wireless mast and three periscopes, but when they opened up one of the five hatches and revealed a tube just big enough for a good fat man to go down, and told us we must descend the perpendicular ladder against the side of the tube our courage almost failed. Sixteen feet down into that narrow tube with many crowded up above, waiting to follow, in fact almost stepping on our hands in their hurry, 'twas some sensation.

We first found ourselves in the torpedo room, with some loaded ready for practice and others ready for real war service, 600 lbs. of T. N. T. "Hands Off!" Here were some of the bunks or berths for the crew, not for mine, thanks! Heads right under loaded torpedoes! Foreward was the Battery and living quarters of the crew, next the central operating compartment, diving compartments and water tanks, and the main ballast tanks that you open to let water in to submerge. To rise they close the tanks and blow them from the bottom. Then came the after battery, with the quarters for the four officers on the port side.

On the starboard side in one corner is the galley where one man prepares the food for the forty crew aboard. There is a foldup table under pipes etc. where Ernest said, "We bend our noses to the feed bags" or eat our "chow." Here also is the ice making machine. Next came the engine room, on the port side the oil purifyers, like our cream separators, removing all water and dirt. On the starboard side were the distiller boilers that change the sea water into fresh for use at sea.

There are two engines of 600 h. p. each 8 cylinders non reversible, air starting and electric starting, also high and low pressure pumps. Beyond was the motor room but fresh paint forbid our trying to go any further, as it was we had been crowded between things all the way. We looked through the periscopes marked like

We stopped at the Park and heard several selections by the naval band that had been escorted to the park in cars and invited to play in place of the "Kilties" that afternoon. The leader, Ernest told me, had only three more months to do service to cover the thirty years that gave him the privelige to retire with a good pension. Admiral Christy has served over forty years.

The officers were entertained at the Soreno Hotel with a big banquet in the ballroom, then at the Yacht Club and then with a ball at the Vinoy Hotel. The sailors were to make headquarters at the Legion, with free entry to the Colosseum and Palaise Royal, for dancing.

Of course every one wanted to go aboard the boats and the privelege was granted, but one must go out in the service boats which hold only 75 sailors, and board the Camden which is a tender for the 4th Div. Subs., or the Bushnell which is tender for the 3rd Div. Subs. Ernest had to be back on duty at 7.30 A. M. so we were to go out on the first boat at 2 o'clock and he would be waiting to receive us and show us over the boats. You can imagine the mob that was waiting to go, for there are over 100,000 people in the city now. "Well," I said to the Shore Patrol sailor who was policing at the stairs to the dock, "What ship, Buddie?" Then I told him that I had a boy on the S-20 who was losing "liberty," time off, waiting to show us around the boat. He said "Madam, slip right inside the ropes with your party (there were ten of us) and tell the officer at the head of the stairs and he will put you through at once." Well sir, there were 150 who slipped under the rope when we did and they crowded my party so that we were separated and lost Mr. Jackson and three others in the mob, and they were forced back with the rest behind the ropes again by the city police.

At the stair head I asked the officer from the Camden if he knew Ernest, and he said, "Bradlee from N. Y.? Is he your boy? Come right down onto the dock where you will have the best chance when the next boat comes in." I thanked him and we went down much to the disgust of the thousands waiting for a similar chance. When the boat came in Ernest was aboard it for we had missed two and he had become anxious about us. The Captain told him to go into the crowd and get the rest of our party and he would try and hold the boat a few minutes for him but we had to put out without him for the mob was furious and could not be controlled by the city police and they did not know that Ernest had authority to bring the other four through with him and one of my friends was beaten back with a billy because she would go through with Ernest when they told her to let his coat tails alone. But Mr. Jackson and one of the ladies got through with Ernest for the next boat and we waited for them at the Camden.

It was a delightful sail out and very interesting while we waited, to look over the ship. It was once a German tramp steamer confiscated during the war, and now used as tender with supplies for the 4th Div. of Submarines. It carries 300 in officers and crew, and Admiral Christy's quarters were aboard her. While we were there they were taking on supplies, and in a big woven rope basket they hauled up onto the deck six and eight bbls. at a time, crates of fruit, lettuce and vegetables, too. So I think they must live well on the ships. There is a black smith shop or foundry aboard and all things needed to supply the Subs.

Well at last Ernest, Mrs. Hughes, and Mr. Jackson came aboard and we went across the gang plank to the S-20 which was moored along side. It is a long narrow affair like a toy ship but 231 ft. long, with a wireless mast and three periscopes, but when they opened up one of the five hatches and revealed a tube just big enough for a good fat man to go down, and told us we must descend the perpendicular ladder against the side of the tube our courage almost failed. Sixteen feet down into that narrow tube with many crowded up above, waiting to follow, in fact almost stepping on our hands in their hurry, 'twas some sensation.

We first found ourselves in the torpedo room, with some loaded ready for practice and others ready for real war service, 600 lbs. of T. N. T. "Hands Off!" Here were some of the bunks or berths for the crew, not for mine, thanks! Heads right under loaded torpedoes! Foreward was the Battery and living quarters of the crew, next the central operating compartment, diving compartments and water tanks, and the main ballast tanks that you open to let water in to submerge. To rise they close the tanks and blow them from the bottom. Then came the after battery, with the quarters for the four officers on the port side.

On the starboard side in one corner is the galley where one man prepares the food for the forty crew aboard. There is a foldup table under pipes etc. where Ernest said, "We bend our noses to the feed bags" or eat our "chow." Here also is the ice making macaine. Next came the engine room, on the port side the oil purifyers, like our cream separators, removing all water and dirt. On the starboard side were the distiller boilers that change the sea water into fresh for use at sea.

There are two engines of 600 h. p. each 8 cylinders non reversible, air starting and electric starting, also high and low pressure pumps. Beyond was the motor room but fresh paint forbid our trying to go any further, as it was we had been crowded between things all the way. We looked through the periscopes marked like rulers to show the gauge of sight and through which means they make observations when submerging etc. We also saw the master gyro compass, and could have ascended the wireless mast into the rigging but forbore. There was one life boat below the hatches on deck. Stores for ten to fifteen days were carried at sea. The Bushnell is a regular government built tender for submarines, and the "Falcon" a mine sweeper. No. 28 was in the fleet but we could not go aboard, it is electrically charged and is dangerous. These mine sweepers are all named after birds, as the Teal, Eider and Pelican.

The fleet put to sea Monday on the morning tide but the Mayor and a few fortunate ones went out with them far enough to submerge and take a dip.

After my visit on the fleet I shall be very thankful that I am not cooped up in such close quarters among such dangerous engines on top of the waters to say nothing of having to submerge and stay there no knowing how long. There were oxygen tanks aboard, too, I forgot to say. It was a trip that I should not have liked to miss and I am glad of having had the privilege of the experience. Mrs. Bridge of Tripp Lake and daughter, Beverly, and Mrs. Howard Maxim were among our guests on the submarine with Ernest. Howard Maxim had to keep an appointment and so had to give up at the dock, we were forced to wait so long before getting aboard, but there were thousands who were disappointed and did not get to go at all.

I see by the last Advertiser that my letters are getting too long but if I do not write when the spirit moves or rather, "while I am it", I do not get them in regularly so shall keep on with this and let the force divide it at their pleasure, for there is so much going on that I may not get at it again for weeks, but will try my best.

We took in Tampa Fair last week. It is the State Fair here and is a big one. We ought to put in two or three days doing it, but one had to suffice. We drove over with our landlord in his fine Buick, seven passenger, and gave our half dollar each, which is the required ticket to release the turnstyle gate and allow us to enter. No autos in the grounds! At our left was the county exhibition hall where, by county, there were the finest fruit and vegetables ever exhibited without any exception. Such potatoes, even Maine would be proud to call them hers! There were radishes from the little strawberry button ones to the icicle, the white egg, the French, the Chinese, and so on up to some as large as a man's arm and half as long, pure white and tender; sixteen kinds of beans, ten kinds of corn, from kaffir to the flat white "thumb nail", rightly named too; twenty-eight kinds of grain seeds; ten kinds peanuts, eight varieties of cane, and yams from small balls to the Honduras which is two feet long, one potato making a meal for six. Wonderful Concord grapes as well as other varieties, figs, and by the way, I have seen the leaves or the Garden of Eden fig and two of them will make a skirt for these days.

Among the oddities I noted the Dasheens long and tasting like chestnuts when boiled which way they are served, as potatoes. Also the Screw Pine fruit, round like a burr as large as a grape fruit, and resembling the pineapple and pine cone somewhat in looks; the custard apple was very large and pulpy used to make custard pies; white suppotas like an apple in form with seeds like an orange, fine in salads, rich in flavor; japanese persimmons, luscious to eat; grandu flora oranges like our small crab apples and the cervil ones, tiny, used for garnishing; strawberries, hundreds of plants and as many more in boxes for shipment, it seemed wicked to us to have them wasted for of course they could not be fit to use after ten days of exhibition there. One county had 64 varieties of vegetables alone, arranged in a glorious manner, with celery slanting white stalks in a semicircle and the leaves shading into the light greens of lettuce and so on into the darker cabbages with the large rich red of the peppers to set it off, squashes, mammoth ones, and the cucumbers and oh I cannot begin to tell it all to you. It was the work of an artist! The cocoanut bloom took my eye too. It was in the bud like the seed pods of the milkweed, but 3 ft. or more long and big round in the center as your leg above the knee, and when opened there were the hundreds of little blossoms on stems that looked like the fluff of the milkweed and the seeds like the blossoms, or visa versa I should say. The lower ones of these wither and the upper grow into the fruit, or nuts as we call them, 30 odd on one stem.

The cotton next took my eye too, every stage from the soft fleecy fibre to the seeds and blossoms. The bushes are about four feet tall and need two feet width to grow well. Cotton has several gowns you know first green satiny pods, then snow white and silky, then shell pink, then deep rose and then very red and the petals fall off showing capsules like hazel nuts, full of little seeds, these are the cotton balls. They swell six to eight weeks till as big as eggs, husks turn brown and crack along their five seams, then burst and out pops the balls, coated with fleecy fibres that the wind sails away through the air like thistle-down. It will sow itself in this way but is planted each year for better results. As in other fruits of the southland you see green pods and pink and white with big snow balls all on the same bush.

Fields have to be picked over and over again you see and this just suits the sun loving negroes to work at it leisurely from July to Thanksgiving. Then the seeds have to be picked out like orange seeds, the down is pressed into bales 450 lbs. in brown sacking. Seeds used to be burned, but now used for oil for cooking, and salad oils, and oleomargarine. A bale when opened fills a room at the mill, it is there loosened and beaten free of dust till fluffy again, then combed all one way like hair with a roller with thousands of tiny teeth. Rows of this lie straight, end for end until a sheet is formed in strips called 'rovings'; these go through grooves in big steel roils into soft hollow rope as big as two thumbs, then is passed through smaller and smaller grooves and squeezed and twisted and pulled into cord like twine but still very soft.

Then two are twisted together and spun into yarn. There are six of these strands in very fine sewing cotton thread. Sea Island cotton is used for fine voiles, velvet, laces, and fine lace threads. Egyptian fibres are shorter and tawny in color, used for balbriggan underwear, hosiery (when cotton is used, now it must be all silk), Peruvian cotton is brownish, rough, and heavy, sometimes hairy like wool and is used for heavy cloths and mixed with wool to make hats, winter underclothes. American cotton or upland, supplies two thirds of the world. Its fibres are less than inch long and it matures earlier.

On account of fungus growth and insect pests as the weevil, cotton is planted each year, and after the harvest, stalks are plowed in for fertilizer; the pulp makes paper, artificial silk, pyroxylene, alcohol and acetone. Seed are picked over a second time and used for "linters" for low grade yarns, twine, cheap rope, lamp wicks, mattresses, smokeless powder, cotton batting, and cotton waste as well as explosives.

The handsomest sight that I saw at the Fair was a big show case with a full size moulding of a man plowing with a full furrow turned up, a pair of oxen at the plow with yoke and chains, and a dog running at the heels of the man who was smoking. This was all done in Peoria butter. Of course it was under refrigeration all the time. There was another of a boy reading a sign board on a fence, and his dog barking at a cat perched on the fence, with her back up and tail like a brush. Both these molds were life size. Can you conceive of the beautiful sight that it made?

We had a wonderfully cool drive back home across Gandy Bridge, the longest automobile bridge there is, which spans Tampa Bay from that city to St Petersburg, and a short spin over Gandy Boulevard to Fourth St. home. A day of delight and education! With kind regards to you all, I am, sincerely yours, Eva Bradlee Jackson.

Overdoing?

Hurry, Worry and Overwork Bring Heavy Strain.

MODERN life throws a heavy burden on our bodily machinery. The eliminative organs, especially the kidneys, are apt to become sluggish. Retention of excess uric acid and other poisonous waste often gives rise to a dull, languid feeling and, sometimes, toxic backaches and headaches. That the kidneys are not functioning perfectly is often shown by burning or scanty passage of secretions. More and more people are learning to assist their kidneys by the occasional use of Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic. Ask your neighbor!

Lesson for March 13

MAKING THE WORLD CHRISTIAN

LESSON TEXT—Matt. 28:16-20; Acts 16:6-15.
GOLDEN TEXT—Go ye therefore and teach all nations.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Telling Everybody About Jesus.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Winning the World for Christ.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How We Can Spread the Gospel.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Christian Missions the Hope of the World.

I. The Great Commission (Matt. 28:16-20).

1. When and where given (v. 16). It was shortly before the ascension in a mountain in Galilee where the disciples met Jesus according to appointment.

2. The foundation upon which the commission rests (vv. 17, 18). In order to prepare the disciples to receive this commission, Christ declared to them that all power in heaven and in earth was given unto Him. Before the disciples would enter upon the execution of this commission they must be convinced of His Lordship. To create doubt in the minds of believers as to the deity of Jesus Christ is to cut the nerve of missionary endeavor.

3. What the commission is (vv. 19, 20).

1. "Go—teach all nations" (v. 19). This means make disciples of all the nations, not Jews merely.

(2) "Baptize them in the name of the Triune God" (v. 19). Those who have become disciples of the Lord should receive the rite which signifies their relation to him.

(3) "Teach them to observe all Christ's commandments" (v. 20). Those who have become Christ's disciples should be taught obedience to all His commandments.

4. The promise attached (v. 20). Those who obey the king in evangelizing the world have the promise of His unfailing presence.

II. Forbidden by the Holy Spirit to Preach in Asia Minor (Acts 16:6-8).

The inclination of Paul and his companions was to tarry in Asia Minor preaching the Word, but contrary to their inclination they were hurried along. We have here a fine lesson on divine guidance. The Holy Spirit is just as active and faithful in closing doors as in opening them. "The stops as well as the steps of good men are ordered of the Lord." We ought as truly to recognize God's hand in the "shut-ins" as in the "open-outs."

III. The Call to Macedonia (Acts 16:9-12).

The gospel having broken the confines of the Jewish city and country, the middle wall of partition having been abolished, the time has come for it to leap across the Aegean sea and begin its conquest on another continent.

1. The vision (v. 9). Being hemmed in on all sides, a vision was given to Paul of a man of Macedonia pleading for help. This made plain to him the closed doors about him. In finding the divine will, we should look both ways.

2. The advance (vv. 10-12). As soon as the divine way was known they moved forward therein.

IV. The First Convert in Europe (vv. 13-15).

The devout people were accustomed to worship by the riverside. To this humble gathering Paul came and preached to the women assembled there. A certain woman from Thyatira named Lydia, a proselyte, believed his message and was baptized. The steps in Lydia's conversion are worthy of note for they are typical:

1. Attendance at the place of worship (v. 13). Usually those whom God is calling are found at the place of prayer.

2. Listening to the preaching of the Word of God (vv. 13, 14). The instrument used in the conversion of sinners is the Word of God (Rom. 10:17).

3. Her heart was opened by the Lord (v. 14). Only the Lord can convert a soul. It is our business to preach the Word of God, and it is God's business to open the heart of the inquirer.

4. She was baptized (v. 15). Every one whose heart the Lord has opened desires to confess Him in baptism.

5. Her household believed (v. 15). When one is converted those in the home will find it out.

6. Practiced hospitality (v. 15). Those who have experienced God's saving grace are thus disposed to have part in His work by rendering aid to His ministers.

Pursuit of Happiness

Many people are on the wrong scent in pursuit of happiness. They think it consists in having and getting, and being served by others. It consists in giving and in serving others.—Herald of Gospel Liberty.

Salvation

Salvation is not from you, nor in you, nor by you, nor of you, but only in Christ, and by Christ, and of Christ, but thanks be to God is for you.—Central Bible Hall Record.

Real Estate Conveyances

Eastern District

Buckfield—Albert T. Eastman to Bertha E. Morse, both of Buckfield. One parcel containing 8 acres, with buildings, on easterly side of road leading from East Hebron to Buckfield, at the town line. Bounded by the O. P. Brown estate and land of grantee. Also a parcel bounded by the Buckfield-Turner line and land of L. A. Allen and the Brown estate. This is part of the premises received from Everett J. Johnson in 1905.

Buckfield—Otis G. Turner to Mary E. Bragg, both of Buckfield, homestead farm in Buckfield, being the same premises received from Augustus Mayhew in 1880, excepting a wood lot conveyed to grantor by Amos C. Foster. One other parcel received from Carlton Gardner in 1892 is included in the transaction. Conveyed on condition that the grantor shall furnish the grantee and Orpha L. M. Turner board and proper care during their natural life.

Canton—J. Alton and Lida M. Tyler to Ada C. Bonney, all of Canton, parcel with buildings in Canton, bounded west by land of Dr. F. W. Morse; north by land of Florence Fletcher; south by parcels of S. W. Butterfield and Abbie Proctor. Right of way is granted from street called Hayford Court over the dividing line between land of Glover and Farrington.

Greenwood—Virginia E. Kidder of Saugus, Mass., to Everett F. Kidder of Winchester, Mass., parcels in Greenwood in that part called Phillips Academy Half Township. Conveyance supposed to contain 190 acres, as received from Kalle Heikkinen in 1912.

Hartford—Laura F. Irish of Hartford to Maine Central Railroad Co., all land between railroad and town highway at Hartford Center, near the store formerly owned and occupied by James and Orlando Irish. Being located on the westerly side of town and running through the lot.

Norway—Floyd R. Perkins to Arthur G. Carroll, both of Norway. One-half acre with buildings, in Norway, on westerly side of state highway leading to Oxford. Bounded north and west by land of Joshua Yeaton. The lot has been known as the gravel pit and owned previously by the town of Norway.

Norway—Ruby S. Carroll to Clarence W. Buck, both of Norway, the Swift place, so called, corner Paris and Solon Streets, in Norway village. Possession to be given on or before May 1, 1927.

Norway—Bessie M. and Charles F. Schibener to Henry Whittington, all of Philadelphia, Pa. The Alexander MacLean camp property on easterly shore of Lake Pennesseewassee, Norway. Bounded westerly by the cottage lot of Bessie M. Packard. All furnishings and household effects are included. Right of way is granted from county road (Crockett Ridge road) across Harrison Avenue to said lot.

Norway—Henry Whittington to Chas. F. and Bessie M. Schibener, all of Philadelphia, the MacLean camp property on Lake Pennesseewassee as recorded in the foregoing item.

Paris—Gertrude and Otis W. Magoun to Lewey M. Cox, all of Paris. Five lots in Oxford Park, containing about one acre. Same was received from Ella A. Cox in 1926. Deed is given to fulfill the conditions of a bond for a deed dated October 4, 1926.

Rumford—Joseph Gauthier, Rumford, to A. E. Small, Mexico, and Albert Beliveau, Rumford, parcel in East Rumford on highway leading to Rumford Center. Bounded by land of Virgil Abbott, parcel of E. W. Russ and a burial ground. Grantees have right to maintain a sewer across highway, and across land owned by grantor to the Androscoggin River. Sewer to be installed at a time not to interfere with crops that may be on grantor's land.

Roxbury—Arthur Marchaud to Herman W. Hanson, both of Rumford, lot with buildings on shore of Silver Lake, in Roxbury. Property was received from the Dunton Lumber Co.

The World's Most Powerful Sedan of Its Size and Weight -and the Safest

NOW $1335 F.O.B. FACTORY

TO prove the ability of this Studebaker Custom Sedan, get behind the wheel yourself. Feel the power of its quiet L-head motor—most powerful in any car of its size and weight in the world. See how slowly you can idle along in high, how smoothly it accelerates, how lightning-quick it is on the pick-up, how easily it shoots through traffic, soars up steep hills and speeds arrow-swift down the free stretches.

Luxury for Your Wife

Then turn the wheel over to your wife. Let her learn what restful driving really means—the pleasure that comes from finger-tip response in steering—the ease of gear-shifting—the feather-light pressure on the positive-acting four-wheel brakes. And she will like the complete custom luxury of its richly upholstered, roomy interior.

Fused Steel Assures Safety

This smart-looking Studebaker steel body saves gasoline and tires because it's lighter than wood—safer because it permits wider visibility than wood—safer also because it has been fused by electricity into a practically indestructible unit of steel—welded, not riveted—and longer-lived because steel wears while wood wears out.

A One-Profit Price

At its new low price, $1335—including over $100 worth of extra equipment—this Studebaker Custom Sedan shatters all former standards of motor car value, thanks to One-Profit manufacture! See it—drive it—now.

Shall Maine Develop Its Own Power?

By R. L. Cummings of West Paris

Former Governor Baxter, in his recent radio speech, has brought into the open the contest over the greatest economic question that has ever been presented to the people of this state.

When stripped of its minor details, the question is simply this: Shall Maine develop its own power for the use of all who live and do business within its borders at cost of production, or shall we give this greatest of our natural resources to private individuals and then we and all those who come after us, pay this great super-power system three times that amount? Free discussion of this great question is all that we can ask for, and it is all that those gentlemen have to fear.

The facts concerning the great Ontario development and hundreds of smaller ones in this country, prove beyond any doubt that the price we pay, 10c per Kw. hour, is three times the essential price for large and well conducted plants.

The great plea of those gentlemen who wish to have this great resource of the people placed in their hands, is, that it can best be done by private corporations under "proper safeguards for the public." Can they continue to fool the public by this hoary old hoax that they pretend will protect the public?

Let us see what has happened to us through those "proper safeguards." Electric power, like our railroads, is by nature a natural monopoly. They are necessarily granted rights that no individual has and must come under restrictions that would not be placed on any individual.

A railroad is under obligation to carry goods for anyone who offers them, at the same rate, while an individual may charge as he pleases and carry for whom he pleases. That is law. However, Standard Oil obtained its commanding position over all other oil producers, first through rebates obtained from railroads; even to such an extent that they drew one dollar per barrel rebate on all the oil shipped by themselves and their competitors. Judge Landis fined the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana (one of the units of the Socony before that famous dissolution) $29,000,000.00 for violation of laws. They never paid a penny.

The formation of all of these great monopolies was against law, or what was supposed to be law. Can a single instance be shown in which one of the great corporations has made proper restitution to the public? There is no such instance. A few of the crooks in the Sugar Trust were sent to a federal prison. That was while Theodore Roosevelt was on earth, and they have had nothing to fear lately.

The reason that we pay $270.00 freight on a car of grain from the west where we used to pay $75.00 to $100.00 and the reason that in recent years we have paid $1.50 to $5.50 freight per barrel to get our apples to market is because those same "proper safeguards" do not operate as safeguards for us at all.

Consider the condition of our railroad properties of a few years ago. The New York, New Haven & Hartford, one of the best in the world serving a territory second to none in the world for wealth. The Boston & Maine, as sure a dividend payer as could well be found. Officially valued at $190.00 for every hundred dollar share; the Maine Central at $160.00 and earning some such in dividends that construction was charged up as operating expense.

In a few years these railroads were practically bankrupt and the public would have been better served had an honest receivership been appointed.

If any intelligent person wishes to know without a shadow of a doubt how this was accomplished, let them read the investigation of the N. Y., N. H. & H. by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The entire history of American railroads in construction and operation is filled with schemes promoted by insiders whereby the railroad and the public were robbed to enrich those who managed them. Then when the property had become bankrupt call on the public to pay rates that would build them up again even while the management were still milking them, in spite of those "proper safeguards." Let one instance of these transactions suffice. The New York, Boston & West Chester R. R. (so called) was what we should class as a promotion scheme, and had but eighteen and three one-hundredths miles of road, was running behind over one and one-fourth million dollars per year. Its charter was of doubtful validity.

Let in a meeting of the directors of the N. Y., N. H. & H. (whose directors were J. P. Morgan, Rockefeller and Miller, with President Mellin in the chair), they loaded onto the New York, New Haven & Hartford road the $34,400,000.00 of that worthless stock that Mr. Mellin testified in that investigation was worth about ten cents a pound for its full face value. In their findings, the Interstate Commerce Commission said, "Are not these acts ultra virese?" This $34,400,000.00 was paid to parties from J.P. Morgan & Co., but the books that should have shown to whom the amounts were paid, were burned. That was a "proper safeguard" was it not?

When a gipsy lady asks you to let her hold your money while she tells your fortune and blesses your business so that you will be very prosperous, what do you say to her? Well, when these gentlemen ask you to turn over to them the natural resources that are indispensible to the people of this state not only for this generation but for all the future generations as far as the present man can see, in order that you may have great prosperity, what should we say to them. In which one should we place such unbounded confidence? In a New York Gipsy or a Chicago Jew? My humble opinion is that we should take precautions of our own and let them retain for other use those "proper safeguards" which they offer.

Concerning the attitude of the Grange of this State on this matter, let me offer a resolution passed by the Maine State Grange in its forty-first annual session assembled. Similar resolutions were passed in 1912, 1913 and 1924. "Whereas, we view with apprehension the growing tendency to monopolize the water power of the State and that we upon the legislature the early enactment of laws to prevent water power monopoly and to preserve as far as possible the almost inexhaustable sources of power for the welfare of the people. Therefore be it resolved that the State Grange in its forty-first annual session assembled, that private monopoly is indefensible, and we do demand that all water power, forests, and similar natural resources, now a part of the public domain, shall be held forever as heritage for the people, to be developed and operated by the State, or where private operation is conclusively found to be advisable, under short term leases absolutely conserving to the people the rights and profits of ownership. Second, That we demand that all such natural resources that have passed under private ownership, shall be taxed to their full franchise value, either by a tax on the output or an equally equitable assessment.

You will readily see that at this time the Grange was getting troublesome on these questions. A good politician or his counterpart in business wanted these [illegible] that the people still had. Why not [illegible]em by an easy way? Promote the [illegible]acy of some good smooth fellows [illegible]hen elected to the leadership in [illegible]rganization, will come into full [illegible] advocating the things we want. Officially valued at $190.00 for every hundred dollar share; the Maine Central at $169.00 and earning some such in dividends that construction was charged up as operating expense.

In a few years these railroads were practically bankrupt and the public would have been better served had an honest receivership been appointed.

If any intelligent person wishes to know without a shadow of a doubt how this was accomplished, let them read the investigation of the N. Y., N. H. & H. by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The entire history of American railroads of construction and operation is filled with schemes promoted by insiders whereby the railroad and the public were robbed to enrich those who managed them. Then when the property had become bankrupt call on the public to pay rates that would build them up again even while the management were still milking them, in spite of those "proper safeguards." Let one instance of these transactions suffice. The New York, Boston & West Chester R. R. (so called) was what we should class as a promotion scheme, and had but eighteen and three one-hundredths miles of road, was running behind over one and one-fourth million dollars per year. Its charter was of doubtful validity.

Let in a meeting of the directors of the N. Y., N. H. & H. (whose directors were J. P. Morgan, Rockefeller and Miller, with President Mellin in the chair), they leased onto the New York, New Haven & Hartford road the $34,400,000.00 of that worthless stock that Mr. Mellin testified that investigation was worth about ten cents a pound for its full face value. In their findings, the Interstate Commerce Commission said, "Are not these facts them virese?" This $34,400,000.00 was paid to parties from J.P. Morgan & Co. but the books that should have shown to whom the amounts were paid, were burned. That was a "proper safeguard" was it not?

When a gipsy lady asks you to let her hold your money while she tells your fortune and blesses your business so that you will be very prosperous, what do you say to her? Well, when these gentlemen ask us to turn over to them the natural resources that are indispensible to the people of this state not only for this generation but for all the future generations so far as the present man can see, in order that you may have great prosperity, what should we say to them. In which case should we place such unbounded confidence? In a New York Gipsy or a Chicago Jew? My humble opinion is that we should take precautions of our own and let them retain for other use those "proper safeguards" which they offer.

Concerning the attitude of the Grange in this State on this matter, let me offer the resolution passed by the Maine State Grange in its forty-first annual session assembled. Similar resolutions were passed in 1912 1913 and 1924. "Whereas we view with apprehension the growing tendency to monopolize the water power of the State and that we upon the adjacent future the early enactment of laws to prevent water power monopoly and to preserve as far as possible the almost inexhaustible sources of power for the welfare of the people. Therefore be it resolved that the State Grange in its forty-first annual session assembled, that private monopoly is indefensible, and we demand that all water power, forests, and similar natural resources, now a part of the public domain, shall be held forever as heritage for the people, to be developed and operated by the State, or where private operation is conclusively found to be advisable, under short term lease, absolutely conserving to the people the rights and profits of ownership. Second, That we demand that all such natural resources that have passed under private ownership, shall be taxed to their full franchise value, either by a tax on the output or an equally equitable assessment. You will readily see that at this time the Grange was getting troublesome on these questions. A good politician or his counterpart in business wanted these things that the people still had. Why not get them by an easy way? Promote the candidacy of some good smooth fellows and when elected to the leadership in the organization, will come into full power, advocating the things we want. Let me say that I was there and from my humble point of view, I thought that was just what they were doing, when they elected W. J. Thompson to master. When the official then elected spoke for himself, of course, in favor of abating the taxes on railroads a few million dollars, I thought he was serving them well. When Gov. Baxter vetoed the gift to these gentlemen, of the Dead River Storage, and then our legislature passed it over his veto, the Governor started for a referendum to the people at the fall election, so that the people could think the matter over and turn out and vote. When this official there elected sided with these Corporate gentlemen, to hasten that referendum to some very busy time when farmers can hardly get away from their work, and sent papers to all the subordinate granges to have them pass resolutions to prevent that referendum from coming at the time of said regular election, I still thought he was serving those interests that I thought caused his election.

The events of that referendum showed that the Grangers of this State of Maine had a way of forming their own opinion on those matters and I think these gentlemen will find that they have not changed their minds. They did not seem to be convinced that we should make a free gift to these power companies of that privilege that is worth more than a million dollars, or that the taxes on railroads should be reduced a few million dollars so that a corresponding amount might be assessed on themselves.

Every monopoly, or we may say, the great trusts, that obtain the enormous profits that have been made and are now being made, were created in defiance of the letter as well as the spirit of the law and the intent of the public. What used to be thought to be proper safeguards were placed to protect the public. The result has been similar to the results obtained in the attempts to limit slavery. At the time the constitution was adopted, Virginia as well as the northern states, believed in the prohibition of slavery. When it became immensely profitable, they defended it by "Divine right" and their blood. When our shrewd business men see the oportunity to make them and their associates millionaires and billionaires, no safeguards in the form of laws limiting them to do honorable honest business will ever stand between them and their objects. When the public owns these great rights, then they can never take them away any more than they can go back to slavery days.—R. L. Cummings.

BETHEL

Public Whist Party—Good Crowd Attended Drama—Thurston-Park Marriage.

It is very evident that Bethel will be in the line of progress in road breaking. This winter has shown the benefit derived by the use of snow plows.

The Grange Circle served dinner town meeting day.

Much sympathy is felt for Miss Kate Howe in the loss of her niece, Miss Susie Kendrick, who was a teacher at the University of Maine. Miss Kendrick's mother and sister passed away recently and in her death, Miss Howe sustains the loss of a dear sister and two nieces within a year.

Prof. F. E. Hanscom has quite recovered from his recent illness.

Town meeting, the 7th, was largely attended. Many ladies were present, a larger number than heretofore.

The Rev. Herman J. Wills preached at the Congregational Church last Sunday; the evening service was a union service conducted by the Village Council. The message was given by Mr. Aburn Ayer, a teacher at Gould Academy.

The ladies of the Congregational Church served a public supper, March 10.

Mrs. Annie Willey recently returned from Boston, where she attended the millinery openings.

A public whist party was held at the William Bingham gymnasium, Saturday evening.

E. P. Peterkin has been fortunate in getting his lumbering activities finished in Roxbury and Byron while the roads were in good condition; his teams came out, Friday.

The seniors at Gould's are rehearsing Booth Tarkington's popular play, "Clarence," for presentation in the near future.

The play, "Are You a Mason?" again called out a record attendance when repeated on Wednesday evening.

Announcement of the marriage, in New York, of Paul C. Thurston and Miss Helen Park, has been received by Bethel people. They are now on a trip to Germany and Austria. The good wishes of all are extended to them.

Mrs. Ella Clark was a Sunday visitor of Mrs. A. E. K. Grover.

The relatives and friends of Mrs. Anna Stearns are very sorry to know of her severe illness. She is with her son, Benjamin Stearns, in Londonderry, N. H.; her sister, Mrs. Isaac Wardwell, of Albany has gone to be with her for a time. Favorable reports are hoped for.

BETHEL—GROVER HILL

Mr. and Mrs. Alton C. Hutchinson from Bethel, Erwin Hutchinson from Locke Mills and Miss R. R. Mayberry were Sunday guests at Pleasant View Farm, the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hutchinson.

Almon Tyler from West Bethel was at his farm, "Cobblestone," on business, Monday.

Mrs. Frankes M. Whitman is the guest of relatives in Berlin, Milan and Dummer, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Tyler, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Whitman and family called on friends in Mason, Sunday afternoon.

CASCO

The regular Grange meeting was held Saturday evening with an attendance of thirty. A social evening was spent; cake, sandwiches and cocoa were served for refreshments.

Schools in town close this week for a short vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Ned Durand, who have been in Portland for the winter, with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Reed, returned home, Wednesday.

J. N. Eastman's house was saved from fire one day last week. A neighbor noticed the blaze on the roof and notified Mr. Eastman's folks at once. The fire was put out before much damage was done.

Mrs. Ira Page is still confined to the house with a lame foot, caused by dropping a stove cover on the toes.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hanscom and two children, Alfred and Nathalie, are spending a few days with her parents Mr. and Mrs. George Hanscom.

Donald Hanscom, who is taking P. G. course at Gould's Academy, spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hanscom.

The Junior class of Casco High school will give an entertainment at the Grange Hall, Friday evening.

Several from this town attended the annual town meeting at Otisfield, Monday.

for your EYES

The Great New Light
DUPLEX-A-LITE
Like the sunset from the sky
Without a glare to hurt the eye

GOVERNMENT investigators have found that approximately 25% to 30% of the children in public schools have defective vision, and the alarming fact is that this percentage increases with grade progress through the schools. The Government has published quite a large pamphlet "The Eyesight of School Children," treating on this condition. It cites as one of the principal causes the poor lighting by which children read, write, study and do their lessons at home. Even adults' eyes are affected in the same way, although there are no places like schools in which to gather statistics.
The installation of Duplex-a-lite in America's homes will remedy this condition.

SCIENCE and Art together have developed the perfect light—Duplex-a-lite. The light that banishes glare and gloom—the light that conserves eyesight.
After many months of careful study we now make this truly unusual offer as a service to our customers. To all—we give an opportunity to install this modern and decorative light at special low prices and on remarkably easy terms.
This practical Duplex-a-lite floods an entire room with warm sunshine. It provides you home lighting to suit your taste—and eyes. The light is always soft, well diffused and pleasing.

From March 7 to April 9
DUPLEX-A-LITE
Completely installed $17.50
Any employe can take your order!

WHEN the incandescent lamp first came into use, it was installed in thousands of homes in lighting fixtures whose design was purposed for the earlier illuminants. So long as the old style electric lamp was used, this equipment, while not by any means ideal, was permissible. Since then the candle, the oil lamp and the carbon bulb have passed on, giving way to the large, more efficient, more brilliant electric lamp of today. The adaptation of this science of illumination to home lighting alters conditions materially and here both Science and Art have joined together and developed the perfect light—Duplex-a-lite. A lighting fixture that diffuses the light, banishes gloom and glare and floods an entire room with warm sunshine. If you're kind to your eyes—install Duplex-a-lite

Give It Up, Don't Know!

Some one of our readers who did not quite dare put their name to the communication asks these questions:

Dear Editor: I wish you could answer these questions through your column:

"Does a mother ever get to be such a "social success" that she can leave a family of small children uncared for?

There should be a penalty for any mother who can be so very popular in clubs, lodges, etc., while her own family are neglected and alone.

Do these mothers ever think of fire, sudden sickness and so many things that could happen while mother is out enjoying herself?

Even in animal nature the mother first thinks of the welfare and safety of her young.

Are some of the mothers getting below this?

KEZAR FALLS

Mrs. Merrifield Hostess of Club—High School Carnival.

Mrs. W. O. Merrifield was hostess to the L. M. R. C., which met at her home, Monday evening, on the last day of February. The President of the Club, Mrs. E. G. Caston, presided at the business meeting. The program for the evening was as follows:

Roll Call answered by members, with name of some Maine Institution.
Reading, "Maine Hospitals" ..... Mrs. J. A. Callaghan
Poem, "Lead On, Maine" ..... Mrs. W. M. Chellis
Reading, "Old Dwellings in Maine" ..... Mrs. B. F. Ridlon
Charade ..... Mrs. R. F. Lord

The hostess served sandwiches, cake, and coffee, after which the "Maniacs" departed to their homes, well contented with their feast of reason and flow of soul.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Garner are passing the week in Boston and New York and enjoying for a brief period the society of their daughter, Ruth Evelyn, at the Katherine Gibbs School in Boston.

Mrs. Perley A. Cross entertained the Circle, Tuesday afternoon.

Rev. Cymbrid Hughes, District Superintendent, held the last Quarterly Conference of the church year, Wednesday, March 2nd, in the M. E. Church vestry. The people are always glad to welcome Mr. Hughes, remembering his seven years pastorate among them. During the business session the present pastor, Rev. A. A. Callaghan, who has been here three years, received a unanimous invitation to return, which they sincerely hope he will accept.

Friday, March 4th, Temperance Day was observed at the Carl Milliken School by a combined session of the Porter and Parsonsfield schools.

Friday, March 4th, was the date of Porter High School Carnival, which proved a very interesting affair, participated and witnessed by many people. In the evening the Athletic Association provided a supper in the M. E. vestry, followed by a dance in the town hall, given by the Alumni Association. Saturday was a continuation of Friday's sports, plus some horse racing which added to the general interest.

The Porter High School Girls' Glee Club furnished the music last Sunday morning for the services in the M. E. Church, singing an anthem, a solo, and a duet, beside leading the Congregational singing of Hymns. Rev. A. A. Callaghan preached a powerful sermon on the "Danger of Forgetting God."

WATERFORD

Rev. A. C. Townsend has been ill with the grippe, but is some better.

Mary Rounds and Katherine Stone have returned to their schools in Milton and Ipswich, Mass.

There were two supper parties at Stone House, last week, at the first one, on Tuesday evening, the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Denison of Harrison; on Wednesday evening, the guests were Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Morgan and P. E. Kimball.

The Reading Club was held at the home of L. R. Rounds, on Thursday evening, with a good attendance. Refreshments of punch, fancy cookies, and salted nuts were served at intermission and a social time enjoyed. This was a surprise and was in honor of Miss Mary Rounds, who was at home for her vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Abbott of South Waterford spent the day with Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Hubbard, on Friday. Mr. Abbott has not been well this winter, and has had to stay at home very closely. His friends are glad to hear that he is able to get out among people once more.

Friday, March 4th, was the thirteenth birthday of Charles Fillebrown, and the following guests were entertained in honor of the day: Mrs. F. B. Rounds, Miss Mary Rounds, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Rounds, Ruth and Laurence Rounds. A fine supper was served, including, of course, a beautiful birthday cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pike and daughter, Esther, were entertained at supper on Friday evening, March 4th, by Mr. and Mrs. Urban Tyler. After the delicious supper, cards were enjoyed.

Mrs. Nellie Stone and daughter were entertained at F. A. Morgan's on Friday evening, March 4th. A delicious supper was served.

There was a large attendance at town meeting, two double teams, loaded with people, came down from North Waterford and Charles Kimball brought a sled load of people from South Waterford. A fine baked bean dinner was served at the Community House, by the ladies of the Circle.

Miss Susan Wilkins has been confined to her room for several days, by illness, but she is somewhat improved in health.

Stated communication of Mt. Tir'em Lodge, F. & A. M., March 15th, 1927.

The Farm Bureau meeting will be held at 10 a. m., March 22nd, at the Grange Hall in South Waterford. Mr. Wilbur, the extension poultry specialist, will discuss poultry diseases and show lantern slides.

ADJOURNED CORPORATION MEETING

Officers Elected

Clerk—Edwin N. Haskell.
Treasurer—Charles H. Howard.
Collector—Charles O. Barrow.
Assessors—D. B. Chapman, Robert E. Shaw, W. E. Keaney.
Engineers—Chief, Chas. W. Bowker; 1st Assistant, Harry I. Lowell; 2nd Assistant, W. G. Cushman.
Water Commissioners—Chas. O. Barrows, O. K. Clifford, A. F. Goldsmith.

In the election of officers, Don B. Chapman takes the place of R. D. Gould for assessor. The other candidate for the office was Geo. A. Richardson. On the first ballot each received 24 votes, an the second Mr. Chapman polled 50 votes and Mr. Richardson 33. As Alton C. Wheeler resigned from the water board after a continuous service of twelve years, C. O. Barrows was elected for a term of three years.

Compensation of collector is three-fourths of one per cent.; chief engineer, $100, assistants, $25 each.

The sum of $400 was granted for improvement of the public park, $100 to be expended on the easterly triangle near the junction of High and Gothic streets.

The treasurer was authorized to borrow for current expenses, sums not exceeding a total of $5,000.

Voted to appropriate the income of the water system to expenses of maintenance and interest on water bonds.

The cost of bonds for the treasurer and collector will be taken out of the miscellaneous account.

The fire alarm situation was discussed at some length. Stanley M. Wheeler and Perley Ripley has taken up the matter with the Central Maine Power Co. at Augusta, and satisfactory action was taken on a letter from Geo. S. Williams of the company. The C. M. P. Co. consented to take back certain apparatus furnished by another company, and the matter of an unsatisfactory alarm was easily adjusted.

It was emphasized that no fault was found with the material or work in its installation but the siren code alarm does not fill the bill under conditions at South Paris.

The Senior High School Basket Ball season will end, Friday evening, March 11th. This Thursday evening will come the play-off with the Norway teams. On Friday evening the Gould's Academy girls' team will play at South Paris, and the boys' second team will play at Oxford.

The Junior High School boys won from the Norway eighth grade at Norway, on Tuesday, by the score of 18-11. The second girls' basket ball team played at Norway, Saturday evening, and the Junior High School boys played the Oxford Grammar boys at South Paris, Saturday afternoon.

The members of the South Paris High School are very busily engaged at present getting their various committees organized in preparation for the long looked for "Kathleen," a romantic musical comedy, which is to be staged under their auspices for the benefit of the Athletic Association and music department. The cast of "Kathleen" will be composed of local talent and should prove one of the big events of the year in amateur theatricals, owing to the fact that the production will be staged under the direction of the John B. Rogers Producing Company of Fostoria, Ohio—who have produced this play throughout the United States and Canada, and it comes very highly recommended to South Paris. The play will be staged at the Association Hall on April 1 and the organization expects to make this one of the biggest affairs that the Club has ever attempted, as it is expected that the cast will contain more than 100 students. "Kathleen" is said to contain some very pretty music, which was written by Clayton Hotchkiss, who is now head of the Music epartment of Harvard University, while the book and lyrics were written by Luth A. Yantis, now under the direction of Oliver Morosco. It is said that the story of the play is unusually interesting.

NORWAY VICINITY

Miss Celia Webber gave a delightful week end party at Camp Kingfisher, Lake Penesseewassee, with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stineford acting as chaperons. Spring like weather added much to the success of the outing. Those present besides the chaperones, were Miss Velma Frank, Dick Stetson of Bangor, Oscar Tanguary and the hostess.

Spring is here! Del Pennock, the truckman, braved the decrees of fashion by appearing in a straw hat, Monday. Del is some two weeks ahead of last year.

Norway Lodge, I. O. O. F. No. 16, will work the 1st degree next Tuesday night, March 22nd. A rehearsal will be held March 20, at 7 p. m.

Mrs. Clara Crossland of Dexter lost a fountain pen on Main Street early Sunday morning while returning from a visit to the Rebekah lodge at Waterford. Members of the party alighted from the sleigh opposite the Blue Store and walked to Lynn Street, owing to the bad traveling in the road. The pen is supposed to have been dropped during that walk. Mrs. Crossland values the pen highly for its associations.

The addition to the Cottage Studio completed outside some weeks ago is nearly finished inside. Miss Libby will reside in rooms on the second floor and use the first floor exclusively for her portrait work. There is a large room for taking photographs, a large, dark room and facilities for printing and general work. The main studio will be changed into one large apartment for a reception room with wall space for the exhibition of her studies. The sales department will be located in this room near the main entrance.

Dana M. Stuart, the auctioneer, of Harrison, and wife, were in town one day last week. Dana says he has got to have more storage room or sell some of the furniture he has.

Mrs. A. R. Klain and children, Adeline and Richard, will spend the school recess in Belfast with Mr. Klain. Mr. Klain, who recently took a position as foreman of the stitching room, likes his work and the city very much. Courtney and Leslie Pike will be the guests of their uncles, Maurice and Philip Prince, also their grandfather, Dennis Pike. The little Misses Rosalie and Esther Pike will stay with their aunts, Mrs. L. A. Merrill and Mrs. Edward Sawyer, and their grandfather, Judge M. C. B. Prince, at Mechanic Falls.

Joseph Lafrance is visiting this week, with his family, in Portland, who are with relatives for a short time.

J. F. Bolster opened his monument shop on Lynn street, Monday, with Virgil Flood in charge. Thirty years ago Mr. Flood entered the shop to learn the trade and has worked there continuously. Mr. Bolster started forty-eight years ago under the name, Keith & Bolster, located in a small shop located between the Advertiser office building and the brook. Keith had experience, and Mr. Bolster served up a few hundred dollars for a working capital and started learning the business. Most of his work was setting grave stones. The partnership was dissolved within one year and Mr. Bolster has since been sole owner.

Mild weather, Sunday, called many into the open air, but rubber boot conditions existed with slush and water at every turn. Thermometers registered high as 72, with the air balmy like spring. Crows were spying out the land and youngsters gathered pussy willows. Autoists had trouble negotiating deep ruts between the villages, there was growling and gnashing of teeth. Monday was another warm day, with more foot troubles for the unprotected.

The United States Veterans Bureau of Portland, after the 1st of April, will make loans to soldiers holding adjusted compensation certificates.

The Cummings house, sometimes called the Sylvanus Cobb place, corner of Main and Whitman streets, is being changed over to meet the needs of the present owner, Alton C. Maxim, of South Paris. When finished, there will be double doors on front, leading to a large space, suitable for an automobile salesroom. On the same floor will be an office for Getchell's Real Estate and Insurance Agency. A tenement of four or five rooms will be available on the second floor, with a side entrance leading from Whitman street. The front stairs have been removed and the space made into a room.

Mrs. Clara Crossland of Dexter, vice president of the Rebekah Assembly; Past President Inez Crosby of Canton, and Mrs. Delia Starbird of South Paris, deputy president, were guests of honor, at Mount Hope Rebekah Lodge, Friday evening. At this time Mrs. Crossland made her official visit. Several lodges were represented, including a large delegation from So. Paris. The banquet preceded the meeting and was in charge of Mrs. Mary Melvin with a corps of able workers.

F. Robert Seavey has sold his place, the former Freeland Howe homestead, to Win Knight. The first floor will be converted into an automobile salesroom and the second floor made over into a tenement. This place is one of the oldest in the village but has been kept in excellent repair.

George McKeen has moved his family to the upstairs rent in the so-called Evirs house, on Tucker Street.

The Crockett Ridge School will give a St. Patrick's Day entertainment and pie supper, Friday, March 18, at the Heyward Club House. There will be games and dancing. Everyone is invited and the ladies are requested to bring pies.

Robins were reported in the village on March 12.

William Twitchell has moved from the Hosmer house on Whitman Street, to Buckfield.
